Coming of Age in Changing Times

Visual Prompt: What do you think is the context for this photograph? What clues help you make inferences about the setting?

Unit Overview

Of Harper Lee’s To Kill a Mockingbird, Oprah Winfrey said, “I think it is our national novel.” The book’s narrator, Scout Finch, reflects on her coming-of-age experiences as a young girl confronting prejudice in her own community and learning how to live in a less-than-perfect world. In this unit, you will examine how social, cultural, geographical, and historical context can affect the writer’s construction of a text and readers’ responses to it. You will conduct and present research to understand both the setting of the novel To Kill a Mockingbird and the civil rights struggles that surrounded its controversial publication. While reading the novel, you will analyze literary elements in selected passages in order to discover how an author develops the overall themes of the work. Every part of To Kill a Mockingbird contributes to the whole—from a little girl rolling down the street inside a tire to a black man standing trial for his life.
Coming of Age in Changing Times

GOALS:
- To gather and integrate relevant information from multiple sources to answer research questions
- To present findings clearly, concisely, and logically, making strategic use of digital media
- To analyze how literary elements contribute to the development of a novel’s themes
- To write a literary analysis, citing textual evidence to support ideas and inferences

ACADEMIC VOCABULARY context primary source secondary source plagiarism parenthetical citations valid rhetoric bibliography annotated bibliography evaluate censor censorship

Literary Terms symbol motif plot subplot flat/static character round/dynamic character

Contents
Activities
3.1 Previewing the Unit ................................................................. 186
3.2 Picturing the Past ................................................................. 187
*Photographs: Southern Life from the 1930s to the 1960s
3.3 Setting the Context ................................................................. 191
Informational Text: “Jim Crow: Shorthand for Separation,”
by Rick Edmonds
Informational Text: “Jim Crow Laws,” Martin Luther King, Jr.
National Historic Site, compiled by the National Park Service
3.4 Researching and Presenting Information ............................... 199
*Website: “The Rise and Fall of Jim Crow,” PBS
3.5 A Time for Change ................................................................... 202 Letter: from “Letter from Birmingham Jail,”
by Martin Luther King, Jr.
3.6 Voices of Change ..................................................................... 208
Timeline: Civil Rights Timeline
3.7 Historical Research and Citation ............................................. 211
3.8 Reaching an Audience ............................................................. 216
Embedded Assessment 1: Historical Investigation and Presentation ........................................... 219
3.9 Previewing Embedded Assessment 2:
Writing a Literary Analysis Essay ........................................... 221
3.10 A Story of the Times ............................................................... 222
Reflective Texts: Excerpt from Scout, Atticus and Boo: A Celebration of To Kill a Mockingbird, by Mary McDonagh Murphy
3.11 A Scouting Party ................................................................. 226
Novel: Excerpts from To Kill a Mockingbird, by Harper Lee
*Film: Clips from To Kill a Mockingbird, directed by Robert Mulligan
3.12 Conflict with Miss Caroline ...................................................... 231
*Novel: To Kill a Mockingbird, by Harper Lee
3.13 Analyzing Boo ......................................................................... 233
Novel: Excerpt from To Kill a Mockingbird, by Harper Lee
3.14 Questions and Conclusions ..................................................... 239
3.15 Two Views of “One Shot” ........................................................ 242
   Novel: Excerpt from To Kill a Mockingbird, by Harper Lee
   Film: Clip from To Kill a Mockingbird, directed by Robert Mulligan

3.16 Pin the Quote on Atticus ......................................................... 245
   Novel: Excerpt from To Kill a Mockingbird, by Harper Lee

3.17 Shifting Perspectives .............................................................. 249
   Novel: To Kill a Mockingbird, by Harper Lee

3.18 A Solitary Light......................................................................... 252
   Film: Clip from To Kill a Mockingbird, directed by Robert Mulligan
   Novel: To Kill a Mockingbird, by Harper Lee

3.19 Analyzing Atticus’s Closing Argument.................................. 255
   Novel: Excerpt from To Kill a Mockingbird, by Harper Lee
   Film: Clip from To Kill a Mockingbird, directed by Robert Mulligan

3.20 Aftermath and Reflection ....................................................... 261
   Novel: To Kill a Mockingbird, by Harper Lee

3.21 Standing in Borrowed Shoes.................................................. 265
   Novel: To Kill a Mockingbird, by Harper Lee

3.22 Controversy in Context .......................................................... 267
   Essay: Excerpt from “In Defense of *To Kill a Mockingbird,” by Nicholas J. Karolides et al.

3.23 “Hey, Boo”............................................................................. 271
   Novel: To Kill a Mockingbird, by Harper Lee

Embedded Assessment 2: Writing a Literary Analysis Essay ....... 273

*Texts not included in these materials

Language and Writer’s Craft
- Citing Sources (3.4)
- Footnotes and Endnotes (3.7)
- Incorporating Quotations (3.16)
- Topic Sentences and Transitions (3.20)
Learning Targets

- Explore preliminary thinking by writing responses to the Essential Questions.
- Identify the skills and knowledge required to complete Embedded Assessment 1 successfully.

Making Connections

In this unit, you will study the novel To Kill a Mockingbird in depth. As part of this study, you will examine the historical and cultural context of the novel and analyze literary elements that develop the themes of the novel. You will also apply your knowledge of film techniques as you examine clips from the film To Kill a Mockingbird, analyze the director’s choices, and make comparisons between the film and literary elements in the novel.

Essential Questions

Based on your current knowledge, write your answers to these questions:

1. How can context contribute to the understanding of a novel?
2. How does a key scene from a novel contribute to the work as a whole?

Developing Vocabulary

Review the terms listed on the Contents page for Academic Vocabulary and Literary Terms. Use a QHT or other strategy to analyze and evaluate your knowledge of those words. Use your Reader/Writer Notebook to make notes about meanings you know already. Add to your notes as you study this unit and gain greater understanding of each of these words.

Unpacking Embedded Assessment 1

Read the assignment for Embedded Assessment 1: Historical Investigation and Presentation.

Your assignment is to research the historical, cultural, social, and/or geographical context of the novel To Kill a Mockingbird and investigate how individuals, organizations, and events contributed to change in the United States during the Civil Rights Movement. You will work collaboratively to create an oral presentation of your findings with multimedia support and guiding questions for your audience.

In your own words, summarize what you will need to know to complete this assessment successfully. With your class, create a graphic organizer to represent the skills and knowledge you will need to complete the tasks identified in the Embedded Assessment.
Learning Targets

- Identify the historical, cultural, social, and geographical contexts of the setting, writing, and publication of the novel To Kill a Mockingbird.
- Summarize observations about context from visual images.

Developing Context

In this unit, you will read the novel To Kill a Mockingbird. In order to understand and grasp the significance of the story, it is important to analyze the context of the novel. Understanding the context of a novel can deepen your understanding of the story and its themes. Read and answer the following questions in your Reader/Writer Notebook:

1. Think about the context of your classroom. Where is it located? Who is in your class?
2. What is the context of your town? Where is it? What are some unique or identifiable things about your town?
3. Your country?

With a partner, compare your answers and complete the context web graphic organizer. Add branches for historical, cultural, social, and geographical. Discuss what each term describes in relation to context. Then discuss how context can shape your understanding of a story.

4. To further develop an understanding of the context for the novel To Kill a Mockingbird, view the following photographs. Keep in mind that the novel is set in the 1930s, but it was written years later and first published in 1960.

Note your observations and questions about the images in the table.
5. Examine the photographs and make observations about the context. Write any observations, reflections, and questions you have about each photograph in the table.

Topic: America in the 1930s and 1960s

1. [Photo of a crowd]
2. [Photo of a march]
3. [Photo of a protest]
4. [Photo of segregation signs]
5. [Photo of a legal action]
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Photo #</th>
<th>Observation (Note the details of the image in the photograph.)</th>
<th>Reflection (What is your response to the images in the photograph?)</th>
<th>Questions (What questions come to mind that might lead to further exploration or research?)</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Unit Opener photo</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
6. Discussion Groups: After viewing the photographs, meet with your group to discuss the questions you have created. You may want to use these questions to prompt your research for the Embedded Assessment. Share and respond to others’ questions, and add new questions to your own list.

Check Your Understanding
How does analyzing the context of a novel help you gain a greater understanding of the story?

Explanatory Writing Prompt
As you review the photographs, choose one image that stood out to you. Summarize what you learned from this photograph about the context of the setting, writing, and publication of To Kill a Mockingbird. Be sure to:
- Begin with a topic sentence summarizing what you learned from the photograph.
- Include specific, relevant details about the image that stood out or informed your understanding.
- Provide commentary on what you saw and learned.
Learning Targets
• Analyze a secondary and a primary source to understand the cultural, social, and legal contexts of the novel To Kill a Mockingbird.
• Examine the historical impact of Jim Crow in the United States.

Preview
In this activity, you will read two informational passages that will provide additional context about the social, cultural, and legal setting of To Kill a Mockingbird.

Setting a Purpose for Reading
• Underline words or phrases that define the term Jim Crow.
• Circle unknown words and phrases. Try to determine the meaning of the words by using context clues, word parts, or a dictionary.

Informational Text

Jim Crow: Shorthand for Separation
by Rick Edmonds

1 “Jim Crow” the term, like Jim Crow the practice, settled in over a long period of time. By the 1950s, Jim Crow was the colloquialism whites and blacks routinely used for the complex system of laws and customs separating the races in the South. Hardly anyone felt a particular need to define it or explore its origins.

2 The term appears to date back at least to the eighteenth century, though there is no evidence that it refers to an individual. Rather it was mildly derogatory slang for a black everyman (Crow, as in black like a crow). A popular American minstrel song of the 1820s made sport of a stereotypic Jim Crows. “Jump Jim Crow” was a sort of jig. By the mid-1800s, a segregated rail car might be called the “Jim Crow.” As segregation laws were put into place—first in Tennessee, then throughout the South—after Reconstruction, such diverse things as separate public facilities and laws restricting voting rights became known collectively as Jim Crow.

3 A bit like “political correctness” in recent years, the term was particularly popular with opponents of the practice. It was a staple of NAACP conversations of the ’30s and ’40s. Ralph Bunche once said he would turn down an appointment as ambassador to Liberia because he “wouldn’t take a Jim Crow job.” A skit at Morehouse College during Martin Luther King’s student days portrayed a dramatic “burial” of Jim Crow. And ... at the eventful Republican National Convention in 1964 in San Francisco, picketers outside the hall chanted, “Jim Crow (clap, clap) must go.” ...

From material in American Heritage Dictionary, Safire’s Political Dictionary, and From Slavery to Freedom.

colloquialism: informal speech derogatory: disrespectful minstrel: group of comedians that traditionally dress in black-face stereotypic: based on an oversimplified idea about a group of people
Setting the Context

Second Read
- Reread the text to answer these text-dependent questions.
- Write any additional questions you have about the text in your Reader/Writer Notebook.

1. Key Ideas and Details: Why were Jim Crow laws put in place, and why did opponents want to overturn the laws?

2. Craft and Structure: How did Jim Crow laws get their name?

Setting a Purpose for Reading
- As you read, use metacognitive markers to respond to the text as follows:
  - Put a ? next to lines that are confusing or bring up questions.
  - Put a * next to lines that are interesting or reinforce what you already know.
  - Put a ! next to lines that are surprising or help you make predictions.
- Circle unknown words and phrases. Try to determine the meaning of the words by using context clues, word parts, or a dictionary.

Informational Text

Jim Crow Laws
Martin Luther King, Jr. National Historic Site

Compiled by the National Park Service, US Department of the Interior

1. Nurses No person or corporation shall require any white female nurse to nurse in wards or rooms in hospitals, either public or private, in which negro men are placed. Alabama

2. Buses All passenger stations in this state operated by any motor transportation company shall have separate waiting rooms or space and separate ticket windows for the white and colored races. Alabama
3 Restaurants It shall be unlawful to conduct a restaurant or other place for the serving of food in the city, at which white and colored people are served in the same room, unless such white and colored persons are effectually separated by a solid partition extending from the floor upward to a distance of seven feet or higher, and unless a separate entrance from the street is provided for each compartment. Alabama

4 Pool and Billiard Rooms It shall be unlawful for a negro and white person to play together or in company with each other at any game of pool or billiards. Alabama

5 Intermarriage The marriage of a person of Caucasian blood with a Negro, Mongolian, Malay, or Hindu shall be null and void. Arizona

6 Intermarriage All marriages between a white person and a negro, or between a white person and a person of negro descent to the fourth generation inclusive, are hereby forever prohibited. Florida

7 Education The schools for white children and the schools for negro children shall be conducted separately. Florida

8 Mental Hospitals The Board of Control shall see that proper and distinct apartments are arranged for said patients, so that in no case shall Negroes and white persons be together. Georgia

9 Barbers No colored barber shall serve as a barber [to] white women or girls. Georgia

10 Burial The officer in charge shall not bury, or allow to be buried, any colored persons upon ground set apart or used for the burial of white persons. Georgia

11 Restaurants All persons licensed to conduct a restaurant shall serve either white people exclusively or colored people exclusively and shall not sell to the two races within the same room or serve the two races anywhere under the same license. Georgia

12 Amateur Baseball It shall be unlawful for any amateur white baseball team to play baseball on any vacant lot or baseball diamond within two blocks of a playground devoted to the Negro race, and it shall be unlawful for any amateur colored baseball team to play baseball in any vacant lot or baseball diamond within two blocks of any playground devoted to the white race. Georgia

13 Parks It shall be unlawful for colored people to frequent any park owned or maintained by the city for the benefit, use and enjoyment of white persons ... and unlawful for any white person to frequent any park owned or maintained by the city for the use and benefit of colored persons. Georgia

14 Reform Schools The children of white and colored races committed to the houses of reform shall be kept entirely separate from each other. Kentucky

15 Circus Tickets All circuses, shows, and tent exhibitions, to which the attendance of ... more than one race is invited or expected to attend shall provide for the convenience of its patrons not less than two ticket offices with individual ticket sellers, and not less than two entrances to the said performance, with individual ticket takers and receivers, and in the case of outside or tent performances, the said ticket offices shall not be less than twenty-five (25) feet apart. Louisiana

Caucasian: a white Negro: a black person null: without value exclusively: available to only one person or group amateur: not professional vacant: not in use

patrons: customers
ACTIVITY 3.3 continued

My Notes

16 The Blind The board of trustees shall ... maintain a separate building ... on separate ground for the admission, care, instruction, and support of all blind persons of the colored or black race. Louisiana

17 Railroads All railroad companies and corporations, and all persons running or operating cars or coaches by steam on any railroad line or track in the State of Maryland, for the transportation of passengers, are hereby required to provide separate cars or coaches for the travel and transportation of the white and colored passengers. Maryland

18 Promotion of Equality Any person ... who shall be guilty of printing, publishing or circulating printed, typewritten or written matter urging or presenting for public acceptance or general information, arguments or suggestions in favor of social equality or of intermarriage between whites and negroes, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and subject to fine not exceeding five hundred (500.00) dollars or imprisonment not exceeding six (6) months or both. Mississippi

19 Intermarriage The marriage of a white person with a negro or mulatto or person who shall have one-eighth or more of negro blood, shall be unlawful and void. Mississippi

20 Hospital Entrances There shall be maintained by the governing authorities of every hospital maintained by the state for treatment of white and colored patients separate entrances for white and colored patients and visitors, and such entrances shall be used by the race only for which they are prepared. Mississippi

21 Prisons The warden shall see that the white convicts shall have separate apartments for both eating and sleeping from the negro convicts. Mississippi

22 Education Separate free schools shall be established for the education of children of African descent; and it shall be unlawful for any colored child to attend any white school, or any white child to attend a colored school. Missouri

23 Intermarriage All marriages between ... white persons and negroes or white persons and Mongolians ... are prohibited and declared absolutely void. ... No person having one-eighth part or more of negro blood shall be permitted to marry any white person, nor shall any white person be permitted to marry any negro or person having one-eighth part or more of negro blood. Missouri

24 Education Separate rooms [shall] be provided for the teaching of pupils of African descent, and [when] said rooms are so provided, such pupils may not be admitted to the school rooms occupied and used by pupils of Caucasian or other descent. New Mexico

25 Textbooks Books shall not be interchangeable between the white and colored schools, but shall continue to be used by the race first using them. North Carolina

26 Libraries The state librarian is directed to fit up and maintain a separate place for the use of the colored people who may come to the library for the purpose of reading books or periodicals. North Carolina

27 Transportation The ... Utilities Commission ... is empowered and directed to require the establishment of separate waiting rooms at all stations for the white and colored races. North Carolina urging: pushing forward mulatto: derogatory term for a person with both black and white ancestors prohibited: not allowed pupils: students periodicals: magazines or newspapers

Roots and Affixes

The word transportation means “a method of moving passengers or goods from one place to another.” The Latin prefix trans- means “across” or “beyond.” The Latin root port means “to carry” or “to bear.” The root port is found in many other English words, such as portable, portfolio, import, export, report, and support.

Some of the words in which the prefix trans- appears are transfer, transform, translate, and transparent.
28 Teaching Any instructor who shall teach in any school, college or institution where members of the white and colored race are received and enrolled as pupils for instruction shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof, shall be fined in any sum not less than ten dollars ($10.00) nor more than fifty dollars ($50.00) for each offense. Oklahoma

29 Fishing, Boating, and Bathing The [Conservation] Commission shall have the right to make segregation of the white and colored races as to the exercise of rights of fishing, boating and bathing. Oklahoma

30 Telephone Booths The Corporation Commission is hereby vested with power and authority to require telephone companies to maintain separate booths for white and colored patrons when there is a demand for such separate booths. The Corporation Commission shall determine the necessity for said separate booths only upon complaint of the people in the town and vicinity to be served after due hearing as now provided by law in other complaints filed with the Corporation Commission. Oklahoma

31 Lunch Counters No persons, firms, or corporations, who or which furnish meals to passengers at station restaurants or station eating houses, in times limited by common carriers of said passengers, shall furnish said meals to white and colored passengers in the same room, or at the same table, or at the same counter. South Carolina

32 Libraries Any white person of such county may use the county free library under the rules and regulations prescribed by the commissioners court and may be entitled to all the privileges thereof. Said court shall make proper provision for the negroes of said county to be served through a separate branch or branches of the county free library, which shall be administered by custodian of the negro race under the supervision of the county librarian. Texas

33 Education [The County Board of Education] shall provide schools of two kinds; those for white children and those for colored children. Texas

34 Railroads The conductors or managers on all such railroads shall have power, and are hereby required, to assign to each white or colored passenger his or her respective car, coach or compartment. If the passenger fails to disclose his race, the conductor and managers, acting in good faith, shall be the sole judges of his race. Virginia

35 Theaters Every person ... operating ... any public hall, theatre, opera house, motion picture show or any place of public entertainment or public assemblage which is attended by both white and colored persons, shall separate the white race and the colored race and shall set apart and designate ... certain seats therein to be occupied by white persons and a portion thereof, or certain seats therein, to be occupied by colored persons. Virginia

36 Intermarriage All marriages of white persons with Negroes, Mulattoes, Mongolians, or Malaysians hereafter contracted in the State of Wyoming are and shall be illegal and void. Wyoming segregation: separation based on race vicinity: area furnish: provide respective: particular assemblage: meeting

My Notes

designate: specify

WORD CONNECTIONS

Multiple Meaning Words

The word provision has multiple meanings. As a verb, it can mean “to supply,” as in to provision a campsite. As a noun, it can mean “a stipulation or a qualification,” such as a clause in a document or agreement. In this article, however, provision means “something provided or supplied.” In Texas, the court will supply what is needed for black people to access their own library, administered by only black workers.
Second Read

• Reread the text to answer these text-dependent questions.
• Write any additional questions you have about the text in your Reader/Writer Notebook.

3. Integration of Knowledge and Ideas: Why is it significant that many Jim Crow laws reference gender as well as race?

4. Integration of Knowledge and Ideas: Why did Mississippi likely make it illegal to promote racial equality?

5. Craft and Structure: What does the word promotion mean within the context of this article?

6. Integration of Knowledge and Ideas: Each Jim Crow law in this article also lists the name of the state where the law was put into effect. What do the state names tell you about the scope of Jim Crow?

7. Key Ideas and Details: How did Jim Crow laws affect black citizens’ basic human rights?
8. Integration of Knowledge and Ideas: How does it change your understanding of the laws to read them as a primary source rather than just a summary of the laws?

Working from the Text

9. With your group, sort the Jim Crow laws into three or four categories. Work with your group to create a poster that represents the categories and includes brief summaries of several laws that fall into each category.

10. Which of the sources in this activity is a primary source?

11. What are the benefits of a primary source?

12. Which is a secondary source?

13. What are the benefits of a secondary source?

14. Which source was more helpful to you in answering the research questions about Jim Crow laws, and why?
Check Your Understanding
Define Jim Crow and briefly explain its importance in American history.

Writing to Sources: Explanatory Text
Cite three examples of Jim Crow laws that would have presented financial hardships to a local government or institution. What can you infer from the fact that these laws went unchallenged for many years? Be sure to:
- Cite direct quotations and specific examples from the text.
- Use prepositional phrases correctly.
- Use an appropriate voice and a variety of sentence structures to add interest to your writing.

INDEPENDENT READING LINK
Read and Connect
As you read the informational texts you have chosen, look for descriptions of the Jim Crow laws. What recurring themes and issues do you notice? What are the similarities and differences? How will reading about these laws help you better understand the events in To Kill a Mockingbird?
Learning Targets
- Conduct research by exploring a website and gathering information for a presentation on the rise and fall of Jim Crow laws.
- Organize information into a coherent piece and make an oral presentation.

Organizing Information
1. Based on the photographs and sources you examined in the previous activities, fill out the first two columns of the following KWHL chart. A KWHL chart is an effective tool to help focus and refine research activity by determining which topics need further research and where to find the needed information.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th></th>
<th></th>
<th></th>
<th></th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
2. Choose at least three questions that you will use to guide your investigation of the PBS website “The Rise and Fall of Jim Crow”: www.pbs.org/wnet/jimcrow. As you explore the website, complete the graphic organizer as follows:
   - In the “H” column, record the URLs of the page or pages where you find information to answer your questions so that you can easily find them again.
   - In the “L” column, take notes to summarize the answers to your questions.
   - Add new questions generated by your research to the “W” column.

3. Select one question that you were able to answer in your investigation of the website. Copy the following onto an index card:
   - the research question and webpage URL
   - a brief summary of the information you learned
   - at least one new question generated by the answers

4. Present your findings to at least two of your peers. Display the appropriate webpage as a visual for your audience, but use your index cards so that you can maintain eye contact instead of reading information from the computer screen. Be prepared to answer any questions your audience may have about the information you are presenting.

5. As you listen to your peers’ presentations, evaluate how well each presenter summarizes the information on the webpage in a clear and concise manner, faces the audience, and uses eye contact. Take notes in the graphic organizer on the next page. After each presentation, be sure to ask questions to clarify your understanding of the information presented.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Presenter Name and Research Question</th>
<th>Information Learned from the Investigation</th>
<th>My Thoughts and Questions</th>
<th>Evaluation of Presenting Skills</th>
</tr>
</thead>
</table>

© 2017 College Board. All rights reserved.
Language and Writer’s Craft: Citing Sources

When you quote a source word for word or include information that is not common knowledge, you must cite the source to avoid plagiarism. Several different style guides provide information on how to cite sources, such as the Chicago Manual of Style, the Publication Manual of the APA (American Psychological Association), and the MLA Handbook for Writers of Research Papers. This book uses MLA style; you should be consistent and use only one style in a document.

A parenthetical citation gives basic information about the source of a quote immediately after the quote, in the same sentence. The information in the parenthetical citation will correspond to an entry on your works cited page, which will include more complete information about the source, such as publisher and date.

To use a parenthetical citation, write the author’s last name (and a page number if available) in parentheses at the end of the sentence. If no author is given, use the title or (for a very long title) the first words of the title. If the author’s name is used to introduce the quote, give only the page number in parentheses. Place your citation outside the quotation marks, but inside the closing punctuation of the sentence.

Examples:
“… became known collectively as Jim Crow” (Edmonds 7).

As Rick Edmonds notes, “such diverse things as separate public facilities and laws restricting voting rights became known collectively as Jim Crow” (7).

“… was actually supported by Plessy v. Ferguson” (“The Rise and Fall of Jim Crow”).

PRACTICE Choose a nonfiction book or article on a topic of your choice, and quote a sentence from it using the correct MLA-style parenthetical citation.

Check Your Understanding

Choose one question you asked in your KWHL Chart at the beginning of this activity. Describe how you were able to answer this question through research.

Expository Writing Prompt

Explain how Jim Crow laws and practices deprived American citizens of their civil rights. Use information from the website you researched as well as from the two informational texts in Activity 3.3. Avoid plagiarism by using precise citations. Be sure to:

• Define the term Jim Crow in your topic sentence.
• Include well-chosen textual evidence with parenthetical citations from at least two sources.
• Provide commentary on the specific civil rights violations: educational rights, social freedoms, and voting rights.
Learning Targets

- Analyze a historical document for its purpose, audience, claims, and evidence.
- Identify how a historical document provides context.

Preview

In this activity, you will read a letter from Martin Luther King, Jr. and analyze the rhetorical devices and appeals he uses to convey his message.

Setting a Purpose for Reading

- Underline strong examples of diction and imagery.
- Circle unknown words and phrases. Try to determine the meaning of the words by using context clues, word parts, or a dictionary.
- Draw a star next to any instances of ethos, logos, or pathos.

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Martin Luther King, Jr. (January 15, 1929–April 4, 1968) was an American clergyman, activist, and leader in the Civil Rights Movement. In 1964, King became the youngest person to receive the Nobel Peace Prize for his work to end racial segregation and racial discrimination through civil disobedience and other nonviolent means.

King’s letter is a response to a statement made by eight white Alabama clergymen on April 12, 1963, titled “A Call for Unity.” The clergymen agreed that social injustices existed but argued that the battle against racial segregation should be fought solely in the courts, not in the streets.

Letter from “Letter from Birmingham Jail”

by Martin Luther King, Jr.

16 April 1963

My Dear Fellow Clergymen:

1 While confined here in the Birmingham city jail, I came across your recent statement calling my present activities “unwise and untimely.” Seldom do I pause to answer criticism of my work and ideas. If I sought to answer all the criticisms that cross my desk, my secretaries would have little time for anything other than such correspondence in the course of the day, and I would have no time for constructive work. But since I feel that you are men of genuine good will and that your criticisms are sincerely set forth, I want to try to answer your statement in what I hope will be patient and reasonable terms.
I think I should indicate why I am here in Birmingham, since you have been influenced by the view which argues against “outsiders coming in.” I have the honor of serving as president of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, an organization operating in every southern state, with headquarters in Atlanta, Georgia. We have some eighty five affiliated organizations across the South, and one of them is the Alabama Christian Movement for Human Rights. Frequently we share staff, educational and financial resources with our affiliates. Several months ago the affiliate here in Birmingham asked us to be on call to engage in a nonviolent direct action program if such were deemed necessary. We readily consented, and when the hour came we lived up to our promise. So I, along with several members of my staff, am here because I was invited here. I am here because I have organizational ties here.

But more basically, I am in Birmingham because injustice is here. Just as the prophets of the eighth century B.C. left their villages and carried their “thus saith the Lord” far beyond the boundaries of their home towns, and just as the Apostle Paul left his village of Tarsus and carried the gospel of Jesus Christ to the far corners of the Greco Roman world, so am I compelled to carry the gospel of freedom beyond my own home town. Like Paul, I must constantly respond to the Macedonian call for aid.

Moreover, I am cognizant of the interrelatedness of all communities and states. I cannot sit idly by in Atlanta and not be concerned about what happens in Birmingham. Injustice anywhere is a threat to justice everywhere. We are caught in an inescapable network of mutuality, tied in a single garment of destiny. Whatever affects one directly, affects all indirectly. Never again can we afford to live with the narrow, provincial “outside agitator” idea. Anyone who lives inside the United States can never be considered an outsider anywhere within its bounds.

You deplore the demonstrations taking place in Birmingham. But your statement, I am sorry to say, fails to express a similar concern for the conditions that brought about the demonstrations. I am sure that none of you would want to rest content with the superficial kind of social analysis that deals merely with effects and does not grapple with underlying causes. It is unfortunate that demonstrations are taking place in Birmingham, but it is even more unfortunate that the city’s white power structure left the Negro community with no alternative . . .

We know through painful experience that freedom is never voluntarily given by the oppressor; it must be demanded by the oppressed. Frankly, I have yet to engage in a direct action campaign that was “well timed” in the view of those who have not suffered unduly from the disease of segregation. For years now I have heard the word “Wait!” It rings in the ear of every Negro with piercing familiarity. This “Wait” has almost always meant “Never.” We must come to see, with one of our distinguished jurists, that “justice too long delayed is justice denied.”

We have waited for more than 340 years for our constitutional and God given rights. The nations of Asia and Africa are moving with jetlike speed toward gaining political independence, but we still creep at horse and buggy pace toward gaining a cup of coffee at a lunch counter. Perhaps it is easy for those who have never felt the stinging darts of segregation to say, “Wait.” But when you have seen vicious mobs lynching your mothers and fathers at will and drown your sisters and brothers at whim; when you have seen hate filled policemen curse, kick and even kill your black brothers and sisters; when you see the vast majority of your twenty million Negro brothers smothering in an airight cage of poverty in the midst of an affluent society; when you suddenly find your tongue twisted and your speech stammering as you seek to explain to your six year old daughter why she can’t go to the public amusement park that has just been advertised on television, and see tears welling up in her eyes when she is told that Funtown is closed to colored children, and see ominous clouds of inferiority beginning to form in her little mental affiliates: people linked to an organization cognizant: aware interrelatedness: connectedness mutuality: dependency agitation: cloth provincial: local agitator: person who stirs up trouble deplore: hate superficial: on the surface oppressor: person or organization that holds others down affluent: rich

ominous: threatening inferiority: state of being lower status than others sky, and see her beginning to distort her personality by developing an unconscious bitterness toward white people; when you have to concoct an answer for a five year old son who is asking: “Daddy, why do white people treat colored people so mean?”; when you take a cross country drive and find it necessary to sleep night after night in the uncomfortable corners of your automobile because no motel will accept you; when you are humiliated day in and day out by nagging signs reading “white” and “colored”; when your first name becomes “nigger,” your middle name becomes “boy” (however old you are) and your last name becomes “John,” and your wife and mother are never given the respected title “Mrs.”; when you are harried by day and haunted by night by the fact that you are a Negro, living constantly at tiptoe stance, never quite knowing what to expect next, and are plagued with inner fears and outer resentments; when you are forever fighting a degenerating sense of “nobodiness”—then you will understand why we find it difficult to wait. There comes a time when the cup of endurance runs over, and men are no longer willing to be plunged into the abyss of despair. I hope, sirs, you can understand our legitimate and unavoidable impatience. You express a great deal of anxiety over our willingness to break laws. This is certainly a legitimate concern. Since we so diligently urge people to obey the Supreme Court’s decision of 1954 outlawing segregation in the public schools, at first glance it may seem rather paradoxical for us consciously to break laws. One may well ask: “How can you advocate breaking some laws and obeying others?” The answer lies in the fact that there are two types of laws: just and unjust. I would be the first to advocate obeying just laws. One has not only a legal but a moral responsibility to obey just laws. One has not only a legal but a moral responsibility to obey just laws. Conversely, one has a moral responsibility to disobey unjust laws. I would agree with St. Augustine that “an unjust law is no law at all.”

8 ... I wish you had commended the Negro sit inners and demonstrators of Birmingham for their sublime courage, their willingness to suffer and their amazing discipline in the midst of great provocation. One day the South will recognize its real heroes. They will be the James Merediths, with the noble sense of purpose that enables them to face jeering and hostile mobs, and with the agonizing loneliness that characterizes the life of the pioneer. They will be old, oppressed, battered Negro women, symbolized in a seventy two year old woman in Montgomery, Alabama, who rose up with a sense of dignity and with her people decided not to ride segregated buses, and who responded with ungrammatical profundity to one who inquired about her weariness: “My feet is tired, but my soul is at rest.” They will be the young high school and college students, the young ministers of the gospel and a host of their elders, courageously and nonviolently sitting in at lunch counters and willingly going to jail for conscience’ sake. One day the South will know that when these dispossessed children of God sat down at lunch counters, they were in reality standing up for what is best in the American dream and for the most sacred values in our Judaic Christian heritage, thereby bringing our nation back to those great wells of democracy which were dug deep by the founding fathers in their formulation of the Constitution and the Declaration of Independence.

9 Never before have I written so long a letter. I’m afraid it is much too long to take your precious time. I can assure you that it would have been much shorter if I had been writing from a comfortable desk, but what else can one do when he is alone in a narrow jail cell, other than write long letters, think long thoughts and pray long prayers?

10 ... Let us all hope that the dark clouds of racial prejudice will soon pass away and the deep fog of misunderstanding will be lifted from our fear drenched communities, and in some not too distant tomorrow the radiant stars of love and brotherhood will shine over our great nation with all their scintillating beauty.

Yours for the cause of Peace and Brotherhood,

Martin Luther King, Jr.
Second Read

• Reread the letter to answer these text-dependent questions.
• Write any additional questions you have about the text in your Reader/Writer Notebook.

1. Key Ideas and Details: What is the central purpose of Martin Luther King, Jr.’s letter?

2. Craft and Structure: How do the allusions that King uses in his letter help the audience relate to him and what he is saying?

3. Integration of Knowledge and Ideas: What evidence does King give as to why he deserves to be in Birmingham?

4. Key Ideas and Details: To King, what is the difference between just and unjust laws?

5. Integration of Knowledge and Ideas: How does this letter help summarize the atmosphere in Birmingham in the early 1960s?

6. Craft and Structure: What metaphor does King use to close the letter, and why is it appropriate?
7. Complete a SOAPSTone analysis using the graphic organizer.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>SOAPSTone</th>
<th>Analysis</th>
<th>Textual Evidence</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Speaker:</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Occasion:</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Audience:</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Purpose:</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Subject:</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tone:</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
8. Then, go back to the text and highlight words, phrases, clauses, or sentences that stand out as being valid, important, profound, and/or moving. Look for the following:
   - examples of rhetoric and powerful diction, particularly words with strong connotations
   - imagery, sensory detail, and figurative language
   - rhetorical appeals to emotion, ethics, or logic

9. Revisit the photographs from Activity 3.2. Use your analysis of the photos to decide how quotations from Martin Luther King, Jr.’s letter could serve as captions for those photographs. What other words would you need to add to the caption in order to link the quotation to the image?

10. Group Discussion: With the members of your group, discuss responses to the following questions:
   - How does King use rhetoric to achieve his purpose? Give specific examples of his rhetorical appeals to logic, emotion, and ethos.
   - How does he appeal to a specific audience with his language and details?
   - How can you use rhetoric and an awareness of your audience to enhance your oral presentation?

Check Your Understanding
Explain King’s purpose in writing this letter. What does he hope to achieve?

Writing to Sources: Argument
Martin Luther King, Jr. uses several rhetorical devices in “Letter from Birmingham Jail.” Choose the rhetorical device that you think is most effective. State King’s purpose for using this device and explain the effectiveness of the rhetorical device in achieving this purpose. Be sure to:
   - Write a precise claim and support it with valid reasoning and relevant evidence from the text.
   - Acknowledge counterclaims and refute evidence for those claims.
   - Maintain a formal tone, vary sentence types, and use effective transitions.
Voices of Change

Learning Targets

- Analyze a timeline to understand how social change occurred during the Civil Rights Movement.
- Make inferences and connections using multiple sources of information.

Preview

In this activity, you will read a timeline of significant events that eventually led to the Civil Rights Act of 1968.

Setting a Purpose for Reading

- Highlight the names of significant individuals, organizations, groups, events, places, and laws.
- Circle unknown words and phrases. Try to determine the meaning of the words by using context clues, word parts, or a dictionary.

Timeline

Civil Rights Timeline

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Year</th>
<th>Event</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1863</td>
<td>President Lincoln issues the Emancipation Proclamation.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1868</td>
<td>The 14th Amendment, which requires equal protection under the law to all persons, is ratified.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1870</td>
<td>The 15th Amendment, which bans racial discrimination in voting, is ratified.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1948</td>
<td>President Truman issues Executive Order 9981 outlawing segregation in the U.S. military.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1954</td>
<td>The Supreme Court declares school segregation unconstitutional in Brown v. Board of Education of Topeka, Kansas.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1955</td>
<td>Rosa Parks refuses to give up her seat on a Montgomery bus. Bus boycott begins and lasts for more than a year. Buses desegregated in 1956.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1957</td>
<td>The National Guard is called in to block “The Little Rock Nine” from integrating Little Rock High School. President Eisenhower sends in federal troops to allow the black students to enter the school.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1960</td>
<td>Four black college students begin sit-ins at the lunch counter of a Greensboro, North Carolina, restaurant where black patrons are not served.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>To Kill a Mockingbird is published on July 11.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1961</td>
<td>CORE (Congress of Racial Equality) and SNCC (Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee) sponsor “Freedom Rides,” which bus student volunteers into Southern states to test new laws prohibiting segregation.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>To Kill a Mockingbird wins the Pulitzer Prize for literature.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
1962 James Meredith becomes the first black student to enroll at the University of Mississippi. The Supreme Court rules that segregation is unconstitutional in all transportation facilities.

1963 Gregory Peck wins an Academy Award for best actor in the film To Kill a Mockingbird.

1964 Congress passes the Civil Rights Act, declaring discrimination based on race illegal.

1968 President Lyndon B. Johnson signs the Civil Rights Act of 1968, which prohibits discrimination in the sale, rental, and financing of housing.

Second Read
- Reread the timeline to answer these text-dependent questions.
- Write any additional questions you have about the text in your Reader/Writer Notebook.

1. Key Ideas and Details: What can you infer from this timeline about the context for the publication of To Kill a Mockingbird?

2. Key Ideas and Details: Based on this timeline, what is suggested about how To Kill a Mockingbird was received by the public?
Consider the following quotations by American presidents.

“Every segment of our population, and every individual, has a right to expect from his government a fair deal.” — Harry S. Truman, 1945

“The final battle against intolerance is to be fought—not in the chambers of any legislature—but in the hearts of men.” — Dwight D. Eisenhower, 1956

“There are no ‘white’ or ‘colored’ signs on the foxholes or graveyards of battle.” — John Fitzgerald Kennedy, 1963

“The vote is the most powerful instrument ever devised by man for breaking down injustice and destroying the terrible walls which imprison men because they are different from other men.” — Lyndon B. Johnson, 1965

What do they tell you about the progress toward equal rights for all races during this period of time in the United States?

Check Your Understanding

How do the quotes reflect what is happening on the timeline? What can you infer about the American Civil Rights Movement from this timeline?

Writing to Sources: Explanatory Text

Explain how Martin Luther King, Jr.’s letter relates to the Civil Rights Timeline. Which past events from the timeline does King reference? How did his letter influence the events that occurred after it was written? Be sure to:

• Begin with a clear thesis statement that states your position.
• Include multiple direct quotations from the text to support your claims.
• Include transitions between points and a statement that provides a conclusion.
Historical Research and Citation

Learning Targets

• Write research questions, conduct research to choose a focus for a historical investigation, and begin to gather evidence.
• Create an annotated bibliography that conforms to the guidelines of a style manual.

Writing Research Questions

1. Review the first sentence of the assignment for Embedded Assessment 1: Historical Investigation and Presentation.

   Your assignment is to research the historical, cultural, social, or geographical context of the novel To Kill a Mockingbird and investigate how individuals, organizations, and events contributed to change in the United States during the Civil Rights Movement.

Rewrite the sentence as a question (or questions) that could guide your research.

Citing Sources

2. An annotated bibliography is a tool for tracking and giving credit to sources used for your research. Entries typically consist of two parts: a citation that follows the guidelines of a style manual—such as MLA—for the source, and an annotation (a brief summary of and commentary about the source). Examine the following model entry. Then, mark the text to identify the key elements of an annotated bibliography entry: information and details, evaluation of usefulness, and source description.

   Edmonds reviews the origins of the term Jim Crow and the significance of Jim Crow laws and customs as a social factor in the South. He also traces how awareness of the term’s meaning has changed over time as our society has become more politically correct. This source is useful for understanding how racial attitudes led to the creation of the “separate but equal” laws that existed in the South before the Civil Rights Movement. This magazine article is a secondary source that draws from other reliable sources, such as the American Heritage Dictionary.
3. Complete the bibliography that follows by annotating each of the sources listed. Explain how each of the texts you have analyzed in this unit so far could help you address the research question(s) that you just wrote. Under the citation, write a summary that includes the following:

- specific information learned from the source, including key details
- an evaluation of the source’s usefulness in answering the research question(s)
- a description of the type of source, including its relevance and authority

Annotation:

Annotation:
4. Work with your class to brainstorm some of the people, organizations, and events that contributed to positive social change in the United States during the Civil Rights Movement. Write your notes in the following graphic organizer.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>People</th>
<th>Organizations</th>
<th>Events</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

5. Explore a website about the Civil Rights Movement to identify more subjects and add them to your research list.

6. With a partner or group of three, choose a subject as the focus of your historical investigation and presentation. Generate at least three research questions to guide your investigation. (You can revise these later if needed.) Include at least one of each of the following:

- a question that explores a cause by setting the context; for example, What factors influenced what life was like for African Americans in Birmingham, Alabama, before the Civil Rights Movement?

- a question that explores your subject; for example, What were sit-ins, and where did they take place?

- a question that explores an effect by evaluating the change; for example, How did the “Freedom Riders” help enforce antisegregation laws?
My Notes

7. Write a research proposal that includes the following:
   • your group members’ names
   • the subject of your investigation
   • at least three research questions

8. After your proposal is approved, assign a different research question to each group member. As you conduct research, think about the following questions:
   • Is the research question too broad or too narrow? Revise if needed.
   • Do the sources provide useful information to answer your question?
   • Are you using both print and digital sources for research? Are they reliable?
   • Does the initial information lead you to advanced research beyond your preliminary information?

9. Evaluate how well each source answers your questions. Then, complete a note card for each different source you use in your research, noting each site’s usefulness in answering the research questions. You will use these note cards to create your annotated bibliography.

Language and Writers Craft: Footnotes and Endnotes

As you learned in Activity 3.4, writers often use MLA (Modern Language Association) style for art- and literature-focused academic papers. MLA uses parenthetical citations rather than footnotes and endnotes to cite sources within a research paper. If you are writing to the MLA style, use footnotes and endnotes only when you want to refer your reader to other publications that may be informative or helpful. A less common use for footnotes is when you want to provide additional information that may digress from the main information in your paper.

If you are writing a research paper using the Chicago style (based on the Chicago Manual of Style), use footnotes and endnotes instead of parenthetical citations. To cite a source within your paper, add a superscript footnote1 to the end of quotation or piece of information you are citing. The footnote should correspond to a bibliography entry at the bottom of that page of your paper or, as in MLA, refer to a separate document known as the Notes page. The Notes page is a list of all of the sources you used in the paper and comes before your Works Cited page. Your sources should be listed in the order in which they appear in the paper. Word processing programs such as Microsoft Word offer tools to manage footnotes and endnotes within your paper.

As with MLA style, there are specific formatting guidelines to the Chicago style. Be sure to read these guidelines closely if you are asked to write a research paper using this style. Ask your teacher if he or she has any specific style or citation requirements before starting your research paper.

Creating Research Note Cards

On one side of an index card, include the citation for each source, according to the MLA guidelines provided by your teacher or an appropriate guide such as the Purdue OWL (Online Writing Lab) website or the MLA Handbook for Writers of Research Papers.
On the other side of the index card, include the following:

- quotes, paraphrases, and summaries of the information from the source
- a description of the type of source and an evaluation of its usefulness
- ideas for how to use the source in a presentation, including specific notes about integrating images and multimedia

10. Before creating your own note cards, work with your class to create a sample note card for the website “The Rise and Fall of Jim Crow” based on the notes you took during Activity 3.4.

Example

Front:

Back:
Learning Target
- Analyze photo essays, videos, and multimedia presentations in order to plan effective ways to reach an audience of my peers in a presentation.

Elements of Effective Presentations
1. As you view at least three different types of presentations, take notes in the following graphic organizer to evaluate the effectiveness of each.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject and Type of Presentation (photo essay, video, multimedia, etc.)</th>
<th>Facts and Information (What claim was being made by the presenter? Was the reasoning convincing and the evidence relevant to the claim?)</th>
<th>Audio and Visual Components (How did the kind of media used determine which details were emphasized?)</th>
<th>Effectiveness of the Presentation (How engaging was the presentation? Did it grab and hold my attention? Did it feel relevant and important?)</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

2. Discuss: Which of the presentations were effective and why?
3. Based on your class discussion on the effectiveness of the presentations, work with your group to analyze an audience of your peers. Include answers to the following questions:
   - What does my audience already know about my subject, and how is my presentation going to expand that knowledge?
   - What audio and visual components appeal to my audience, and how will I use these in my presentation?
   - What connections can I make between my subject and my target audience to make my presentation relevant to their lives?

4. Meet with another group to share and respond to each other’s analysis of the audience. Consider suggestions for improvement.

5. Create guiding questions for your audience’s note-taking during your presentation. You will incorporate these questions into the media you choose (for example, as titles of slides), write them clearly on a poster to display during your presentation, or make copies for the class.

Levels of Questions

6. Work with your group to write questions that will guide both the organization and the audience’s note-taking on your presentation.
   Start with your research questions and generate at least two more questions for each, using a variety of levels.

   Level 1 Questions: Literal (Questions of Fact) Example: In what ways did Jim Crow laws affect schools?
   For my subject:

   Level 2 Questions: Interpretive (Questions of Meaning)
   Example: Why was Brown v. Board of Education such a landmark case?
   For my subject:

   Level 3 Questions: Universal (Questions of Relevance)
   Example: Does everyone in the United States today receive the same quality education? In the world? What still needs to change to make that happen?
   For my subject:
Drafting the Embedded Assessment

Draft an explanatory text that explains how an individual, an organization, or an event facilitated the changes that occurred during the Civil Rights Movement. Remember to take the historical, cultural, social, and geographical context of To Kill a Mockingbird into account as you write. Be sure to:

- Identify the individual, organization, or event in your first sentence.
- Describe events in the correct chronological order.
- Include multiple direct quotations from the multimedia you used to support your claims.
- Provide a conclusion that summarizes your explanation.

Independent Reading Checkpoint

Review your independent reading. What have you learned and observed about the United States during the 1930s or 1960s? How did the events you read about connect to the texts you read? Were any of the events you read about also listed on the Civil Rights Timeline? Review any notes you took. How can you use what you have learned as you complete the writing prompt and the Embedded Assessment?
Historical Investigation and Presentation

ASSIGNMENT

Your assignment is to research the historical, cultural, social, or geographical context of the novel To Kill a Mockingbird and investigate how individuals, organizations, and events contributed to change in the United States during the Civil Rights Movement. You will work collaboratively to create an oral presentation of your findings with multimedia support and guiding questions for your audience.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Planning: Take time to plan, conduct, and record your research.</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>■ What individual, organization, or event will your group investigate?</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>■ What research questions will help you explore the subject and investigate your subject’s contribution to change (cause and effect)?</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>■ How will you record citations, information, and source evaluations as you gather answers and evidence?</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>■ How will you record sources to create an alphabetized annotated bibliography?</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Creating and Rehearsing: Collaborate with your group to create and prepare a multimedia oral presentation.</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>■ How will you select the most relevant facts and sufficient details to develop your presentation for your audience?</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>■ How will you organize your presentation to emphasize the cause-and-effect relationship between the 1930s context of the novel To Kill a Mockingbird and the Civil Rights Movement?</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>■ How will you divide the speaking responsibilities and make smooth transitions between speakers?</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>■ How will you collaborate to create an audience analysis and plan how to present your findings to your peers?</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>■ How will you select and incorporate audio and visual components into your presentation? What is your plan for rehearsing your presentation delivery and getting feedback from your peers to revise and improve your presentation?</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Presenting and Listening: Use effective speaking and listening as a presenter and audience member.</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>■ How will you use notes for your talking points so that you can maintain eye contact with your audience?</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>■ During your peers’ presentations, how will you use the guiding questions to organize your notes on the subject of each presentation?</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Reflection

As you read and study To Kill a Mockingbird, take notes on how your topic (or another that interests you more) surfaces in the novel. Record both textual evidence and personal commentary. After you have finished the novel, reflect on the following questions: How did the class presentations enhance your understanding and appreciation of the novel?
SCORING GUIDE

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Scoring Criteria</th>
<th>Exemplary</th>
<th>Proficient</th>
<th>Emerging</th>
<th>Incomplete</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Ideas</td>
<td>The presentation • is thoughtful and well-organized • demonstrates a comprehensive understanding of significant aspects of the topic and its relevance to the novel.</td>
<td>The presentation • is organized and displays a solid understanding of the topic • clearly connects the topic and the novel for the audience.</td>
<td>The presentation • is somewhat organized • contains information that shows a limited understanding of the topic or how it connects to the novel.</td>
<td>The presentation • is not well-organized and/or does not contain relevant content • provides few or no clear facts and details to help the audience connect the topic and the novel.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Structure</td>
<td>The presentation • skillfully uses a variety of audio/visual resources to keep the audience engaged • includes media resources that are used creatively to enhance understanding of the topic • includes a well-organized audience guide with thoughtful questions to focus information for the audience and adequate space for recording responses.</td>
<td>The presentation • uses audio/visual resources to engage the audience • uses media effectively to support information about the topic and ideas connecting it to the novel.</td>
<td>The presentation • uses some audio/visual resources that do not engage the audience • uses media choices that are distracting and do not serve the group’s purpose.</td>
<td>The presentation • does not use audio/visual resources.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Use of Language</td>
<td>The presentation • demonstrates accomplished oral communication skills and rehearsal to create a well-planned delivery • includes participation by all group members.</td>
<td>The presentation • demonstrates adequate oral communication skills and rehearsal to plan the delivery • includes participation by all group members, although some may present more than others.</td>
<td>The presentation • demonstrates inadequate oral communication skills and shows little evidence of rehearsal • is delivered by only some of the group members.</td>
<td>The presentation • shows inadequate oral communication skills and no evidence of rehearsal • is not delivered by all group members.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
Learning Targets
- Identify and analyze the knowledge and skills needed to complete Embedded Assessment 2 successfully.
- Revise, refine, and reflect on understanding of vocabulary words and the Essential Questions.

Making Connections
To Kill a Mockingbird is set in the 1930s before the major changes brought about by the Civil Rights Movement. At that time, Jim Crow laws governed the civil rights of minorities, and segregation was the law of the land. In this second part of the unit, you will begin reading the novel and exploring the historical, social, and cultural contexts of its setting.

Developing Vocabulary
Return to the Table of Contents and note the Academic Vocabulary and Literary Terms you have studied so far in this unit. Which words/terms can you now move to a new category on a QHT chart? Which could you now teach to others that you were unfamiliar with at the beginning of the unit?

Essential Questions
How would you answer each of these questions now?
1. How can context contribute to the understanding of a novel?
2. How does a key scene from a novel contribute to the work as a whole?

Unpacking Embedded Assessment 2
Read the assignment for Embedded Assessment 2: Writing a Literary Analysis Essay.

Your assignment is to write a passage analysis of a key coming-of-age scene from To Kill a Mockingbird. After annotating the text to analyze Harper Lee’s use of literary elements in your selected passage, write an essay explaining how the literary elements in this passage help develop a theme of the novel.

In your own words, summarize what you will need to know to complete this assessment successfully. With your class, create a graphic organizer to represent the skills and knowledge you will need to complete the tasks identified in the Embedded Assessment.

INDEPENDENT READING LINK
Read and Discuss
The second section of the unit also focuses on To Kill a Mockingbird, which is a coming-of-age novel. For independent reading, choose novels or biographies or autobiographies with coming-of-age themes. Discuss one or more of your independent reading selections with peers, explaining a few facts you learned about the time period of the book.
Learning Targets

• Analyze reflective texts for tone and to understand context.
• Write an objective summary of a passage.

Preview

In this activity, you will read reflective texts from a variety of readers responding to the novel To Kill a Mockingbird.

Setting a Purpose for Reading

• Highlight words or phrases that identify the reader’s tone or attitude toward the novel.
• Circle unknown words and phrases. Try to determine the meaning of the words by using context clues, word parts, or a dictionary.

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Mary McDonagh Murphy is an Emmy award–winning American writer, producer, and director whose work has appeared on CBS, NBC, and PBS. She primarily focuses on independent documentaries, creating long and short features on a variety of subjects. Her bestselling book Scout, Atticus, and Boo: A Celebration of Fifty Years of To Kill A Mockingbird is based on interviews she completed for the documentary Harper Lee: From Mockingbird to Watchman. In the interviews, she asked each person to discuss a favorite scene from the novel.

Reflective Texts

from Scout, Atticus, and Boo: A Celebration of To Kill a Mockingbird

by Mary McDonagh Murphy

Reverend Thomas Lane Butts, pastor, born in Alabama in 1930:

1 I was in Mobile as a pastor of the Michigan Avenue Methodist Church. I had gone through an encounter with the Ku Klux Klan. They were after me because I’d signed a petition to integrate the buses there. This was in 1960 when To Kill a Mockingbird came out, and it was a great comfort to those of us who had taken some stand on this particular issue.

2 The book was written in a way that it could not be refuted. It was a soft opposition to people who were against civil rights. It was just a great comfort to those of us who had been involved in the civil rights movement that somebody from the Deep South had given us a book that gave some comfort to us in what we had done.

3 I understood the context in which the book was written, because that’s how I grew up. It was a rural, poverty-stricken situation during the Depression, where people did not have much. It was hardscrabble for most people to make a living. It was a time in which black people were treated terribly and people took in racism with their mother’s milk. Here in this novel, you have a person bucking the tradition in order to advocate the rights of a person without regard to color.
James Patterson, author of over 50 novels including the Maximum Ride series, born in New York in 1947:

1 I read To Kill a Mockingbird in high school, and it was one of the few books I really liked. Part of my problem with going to this particular high school is they just didn’t give us many books that would turn us on. I was a good student, but I just didn’t get turned on to reading. What I remember most about To Kill a Mockingbird was—and I think this probably is more of an American trait than in other places—I think we are particularly attuned to injustice. The stories that deal with injustice are really powerful here. I think we have more of a sense of that than they do in some places where injustice is more a fact of life. I loved the narration, how it went from a pleasant story to a quite horrifying one.

2 Sometimes people will criticize To Kill a Mockingbird because of certain language, but it expresses views of how certain people thought in the 1930s. Similarly people will write books about us now, and I am sure [in the future] people will be scandalized by the way we eat and the fact we’re still having all these ridiculous wars and whatever. But I think it’s useful to kids, and it was useful to me to look back on an earlier time and see how different things were.

3 My connection was more to Jem, because he was a boy. I found the drama just kept building and building and building. In the beginning, you are suspecting something about Boo, which should tell you something about yourself, that you suspect him for no reason.

Oprah Winfrey, talk show host, TV/film producer, actress, philanthropist, born in Mississippi in 1954:

1 At the time that I read To Kill a Mockingbird, I was living with my mother in Milwaukee. I would not have had any money to buy it, so I would undoubtedly have chosen it from the library ... I remember starting it and just devouring it, not being able to get enough of it, because I fell in love with Scout. I wanted to be Scout. I thought I was Scout. I always took on or wanted to take on the characteristics of whoever I was reading about, so I wanted to be Scout and I wanted a father like Atticus.

2 I remember watching the movie with my father many years after I read the book. The impact of the movie on my father caused me to see the book differently and experience the book differently. I am right after the cusp of the civil rights movement. I wasn’t a child of the civil rights movement. I am one of those people who has been one of the greatest beneficiaries of the civil rights movement. I don’t know what it is like to be told to go to the back door.

3 I did not live a Jim Crow segregated life, because I was one of the fortunate ones who were able to escape Mississippi. And I do mean escape—1960, when this book was published, was about the time I was leaving Mississippi.

4 I left for Milwaukee and left my grandmother when I was six years old, so I never experienced the segregation of the South. I moved to an integrated school and was the smartest kid in the class, and when you are the smartest kid in the class, you always get a lot of attention. I never felt any of the oppressiveness of racism. I always recognize that life would have been so different for me had I been raised in a segregated environment, if I had to experience even secondhand what was happening in that environment.
Second Read

- Reread the texts to answer these text-dependent questions.
- Write any additional questions you have about the text in your Reader/Writer Notebook.

1. Key Ideas and Details: What is the main reason Reverend Thomas Lane Butts finds comfort in To Kill A Mockingbird?

2. Key Ideas and Details: What aspect does James Patterson find most moving about To Kill a Mockingbird?

3. Key Ideas and Details: How did the civil rights movement affect Oprah Winfrey’s life?

My Notes
Working from the Text

4. Write a brief, objective summary of one of the passages. Meet with a group of students who read different passages. Introduce each passage by reading your summary and sharing textual evidence related to the questions below:

- How did each reader’s personal experiences impact his or her reaction to the novel?

- How were the responses similar? How were they different?

- What predictions can you make about the novel based on these passages?

Check Your Understanding

How might your response to the novel differ from that of someone who read the book in the 1960s?
LEARNING STRATEGIES:
Graphic Organizer,
Marking the Text,
Visualizing, Sketching,
Discussion Groups

Learning Target
• Analyze the first chapter of a novel to identify details that establish point of view, character, and setting.

Opening Credits
1. View the opening clip of To Kill a Mockingbird, noting your observations on the graphic organizer.

Viewing the Opening Credits of To Kill a Mockingbird

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>What do you observe? What images did you see on screen?</th>
<th>What do you notice about the lighting?</th>
<th>What do you notice about the sound?</th>
<th>What predictions can you make?</th>
</tr>
</thead>
</table>

2. Collaborative Discussion: Refer to and add to your notes as you discuss the following with your classmates:

• Usually the opening credits of a film set a mood and provide clues about conflicts or themes. What predictions can you make based on the opening credits of this film?
• From the sounds and images, what can you infer about the perspective or point of view from which this story will be told?
• When this film was made, color film technology was available. Why do you think the director chose to shoot this film in black and white?

Preview
In this activity, you will read two excerpts from To Kill a Mockingbird and look for details about character, point of view, and setting.

Setting a Purpose for Reading
• Highlight words and phrases that give you clues about the narrator’s personality and establish her voice.
• Circle unknown words and phrases. Try to determine the meaning of the words by using context clues, word parts, or a dictionary.
• Underline the names of characters who are related to the narrator as well as the words that tell you how they are related.
American writer Nelle Harper Lee (1926–2016) was born and grew up in Alabama. As an adult, she moved to New York City, where she wrote and published several short stories. She then took a year off from work to write To Kill a Mockingbird, using her father as a model for Atticus Finch. To Kill a Mockingbird won much acclaim when it was published and a Pulitzer Prize in 1961.

Novel

from

To Kill a Mockingbird

(Chapter 1)

by Harper Lee

1. When he was nearly thirteen, my brother Jem got his arm badly broken at the elbow. When it healed, and Jem's fears of never being able to play football were assuaged, he was seldom self-conscious about his injury. His left arm was somewhat shorter than his right; when he stood or walked, the back of his hand was at right angles to his body, his thumb parallel to his thigh. He couldn't have cared less, so long as he could pass and punt.

2. When enough years had gone by to enable us to look back on them, we sometimes discussed the events leading to his accident. I maintain that the Ewells started it all, but Jem, who was four years my senior, said it started long before that. He said it began the summer Dill came to us, when Dill first gave us the idea of making Boo Radley come out.

3. I said if he wanted to take a broad view of the thing, it really began with Andrew Jackson. If General Jackson hadn't run the Creeks up the creek, Simon Finch would never have paddled up the Alabama, and where would we be if he hadn't? We were far too old to settle an argument with a fist-fight, so we consulted Atticus. Our father said we were both right.

Second Read

- Reread the novel excerpt to answer these text-dependent questions.
- Write any additional questions you have about the text in your Reader/Writer Notebook.

3. Craft and Structure: What is the point of view of the novel, and what do we know about the novel’s narrator?
4. Craft and Structure: What can you infer about the novel’s setting based on the first few paragraphs of the novel?

Setting a Purpose for Reading
- Highlight details that reveal characterization, such as a character’s appearance, thoughts, actions, or words.
- Circle unknown words and phrases. Try to determine the meaning of the words by using context clues, word parts, or a dictionary.

Novel

from To Kill a Mockingbird
(Chapter 1)

by Harper Lee

1 Early one morning as we were beginning our day’s play in the back yard, Jem and I heard something next door in Miss Rachel Haverford’s collard patch. We went to the wire fence to see if there was a puppy—Miss Rachel’s rat terrier was expecting—instead we found someone sitting looking at us. Sitting down, he wasn’t much higher than the collards. We stared at him until he spoke:

2 “Hey.”

3 “Hey yourself,” said Jem pleasantly.

4 “I’m Charles Baker Harris,” he said. “I can read.”

5 “So what?” I said.

6 “I just thought you’d like to know I can read. You got anything needs readin’ I can do it ...”

7 “How old are you,” asked Jem, “four-and-a-half?”

8 “Goin’ on seven.”

9 “Shoot no wonder, then,” said Jem, jerking his thumb at me. “Scout yonder’s been readin’ ever since she was born, and she ain’t even started to school yet. You look right puny for goin’ on seven.”

10 “I’m little but I’m old,” he said.

11 Jem brushed his hair back to get a better look. “Why don’t you come over, Charles Baker Harris?” he said. “Lord, what a name.”
“’s not any funnier’n yours. Aunt Rachel says your name’s Jeremy Atticus Finch.”

Jem scowled. “I’m big enough to fit mine,” he said. “Your name’s longer’n you are. Bet it’s a foot longer.”

“Folks call me Dill,” said Dill, struggling under the fence.

“Do better if you go over it instead of under it,” I said. “Where’d you come from?”

Dill was from Meridian, Mississippi, was spending the summer with his aunt, Miss Rachel, and would be spending every summer in Maycomb from now on. His family was from Maycomb County originally, his mother worked for a photographer in Meridian, had entered his picture in a Beautiful Child contest and won five dollars. She gave the money to Dill, who went to the picture show twenty times on it.

“Don’t have any picture shows here, except Jesus ones in the courthouse sometimes,” said Jem. “Ever see anything good?”

Dill had seen Dracula, a revelation that moved Jem to eye him with the beginning of respect. “Tell it to us,” he said.

Dill was a curiosity. He wore blue linen shorts that buttoned to his shirt, his hair was snow white and stuck to his head like duck-fluff; he was a year my senior but I towered over him. As he told us the old tale his blue eyes would lighten and darken; his laugh was sudden and happy; he habitually pulled at a cowlick in the center of his forehead.

When Dill reduced Dracula to dust, and Jem said the show sounded better than the book, I asked Dill where his father was: “You ain’t said anything about him.”

“I haven’t got one.”

“Is he dead?”

“No...”

“Then if he’s not dead you’ve got one, haven’t you?”

Dill blushed and Jem told me to hush, a sure sign that Dill had been studied and found acceptable. Thereafter the summer passed in routine contentment.

Second Read

- Reread the novel excerpt to answer these text-dependent questions.
- Write any additional questions you have about the text in your Reader/Writer Notebook.

5. Key Ideas and Details: Compare and contrast the characters of Jem and Dill. How are their characters the same? How are they different?
6. Key Ideas and Details: How can you tell that Dill is an outsider in the Maycomb community?

7. Key Ideas and Details: Why does Jem tell Scout to hush, and what does this action reveal about their characters?

---

Working from the Text

8. From what point of view is the novel told?

9. How is it both similar to and different from the point of view established in the opening credits of the film?

10. Why is each point of view appropriate for its medium—film or literature?

11. As a group, sketch the characters and the scene you just read, indicating the relationships among the children in your drawing. Annotate the sketch with textual evidence to support your analysis of the scene. Include details about how your character looks, acts, speaks, and thinks as well as other characters’ reactions.

Check Your Understanding

Summarize the sketches you made of the characters. What can you infer about the characters based on the text evidence you chose?

Visual Prompt: As you read the rest of Chapter 1, choose a passage that describes a setting, such as the town of Maycomb or the Radley house. Visualize and sketch the setting, and then annotate your sketch with textual evidence. In addition to details about the setting’s appearance, include examples of the diction and imagery that help to create the author’s attitude or tone.

Narrative Writing Prompt

Think about the scene you just read. Write an “unseen scene” that either comes before or goes after the scene. Or, continue one of the excerpted scenes. Use both dialogue and description in your scene. Be sure to:

- Include a new conflict for the unseen scene, or a continuation of the conflict from the excerpted scene.
- Write dialogue that creates a vivid picture of the characters and conflict.
- Create a consistent point of view.
Conflicts with Miss Caroline

Learning Targets
- Analyze fictional text and make connections to characters and plot events.
- Demonstrate understanding of conflict in writing.

Exploring Conflict
1. Think about the different kinds of conflicts you have studied. Internal conflict occurs when a character struggles between opposing needs, desires, or emotions within his or her own mind. External conflict occurs when a character struggles against an outside force, such as another character, society, or nature. Using the graphic organizer below, brainstorm examples of conflicts from your life, the world, books, television, or films.

- Internal Conflict: Person vs. Self (Struggles against one’s own opposing needs, desires, emotions)
- External Conflict: Person vs. Person (Struggles against another person)
- External Conflict: Person vs. Society (Struggles against laws or expectations)
- External Conflict: Person vs. Nature (Struggles against the physical world)

Working from the Text: Chapters 2–3
2. After you read Chapter 2, work with a partner or small group to locate textual evidence of the conflict between Scout and Miss Caroline. Write quotes below with commentary to explain why these two are “starting off on the wrong foot in every way.”
3. Fill in the circles below, making connections to Scout’s first-day-of-school experiences. As you read Chapter 3, fill in the circles with more connections:
- Text-to-self: when the text makes you think of your own life
- Text-to-text: when the text makes you think of another text
- Text-to-world: when the text makes you think of world events

Check Your Understanding
What type of conflict is happening between Scout and Miss Caroline? Support your answer with text evidence.

Explanatory Writing Prompt
Write an introduction to an essay analyzing the conflict between Scout and Miss Caroline in Chapter 2 of To Kill a Mockingbird. Be sure to:
- Begin with a QQAS (question, quote, anecdote, or statement of intrigue) that introduces a connection to Scout’s experiences.
- Provide a brief summary of the chapter.
- End with a statement about the conflict and what Scout learns from it.
Analyzing Boo

Learning Targets
- Analyze subplot and motif in a text to determine how characters develop through coming-of-age experiences.
- Make predictions, form inferences, draw conclusions, and find evidence to support an analysis of a literary text.

The Story of Boo Radley
1. Return to the pages in Chapter 1 that introduce the story of Boo Radley. Complete the graphic organizer below to separate fact from rumor, and provide textual evidence of each. Add your own questions about Boo’s story and your personal commentary.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Boo Radley’s Story</th>
<th>Textual Evidence</th>
<th>Questions/Commentary</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Facts</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Rumors</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
Preview
In this excerpt, notice how the children begin to question their assumptions about Boo and the Radley place.

Setting a Purpose for Reading
• Underline any details about Boo or the Radley place.
• Circle unknown words and phrases. Try to determine the meaning of the words by using context clues, word parts, or a dictionary.
• Write any inferences or conclusions you draw from “reading between the lines” in the My Notes section.

Novel
from
To Kill a Mockingbird
(Chapter 4)
bym Harper Lee

1 As the year passed, released from school thirty minutes before Jem, who had to stay until three o’clock, I ran by the Radley Place as fast as I could, not stopping until I reached the safety of our front porch. One afternoon as I raced by, something caught my eye and caught it in such a way that I took a deep breath, a long look around, and went back.

2 Two live oaks stood at the edge of the Radley lot; their roots reached out into the side-road and made it bumpy. Something about one of the trees attracted my attention.

3 Some tinfoil was sticking in a knot-hole just above my eye level, winking at me in the afternoon sun. I stood on tiptoe, hastily looked around once more, reached into the hole, and withdrew two pieces of chewing gum minus their outer wrappers.

4 My first impulse was to get it into my mouth as quickly as possible, but I remembered where I was. I ran home, and on our front porch I examined my loot. The gum looked fresh. I sniffed it and it smelled all right. I licked it and waited for a while. When I did not die I crammed it into my mouth: Wrigley’s Double-Mint.

5 When Jem came home he asked me where I got such a wad. I told him I found it.

6 “Don’t eat things you find, Scout.”

7 “This wasn’t on the ground, it was in a tree.”

8 Jem growled.

9 “Well it was,” I said. “It was sticking in that tree yonder, the one comin’ from school.”

10 “Spit it out right now!”

11 I spat it out. The tang was fading, anyway. “I’ve been chewin’ it all afternoon and I ain’t dead yet, not even sick.”

12 Jem stamped his foot. “Don’t you know you’re not supposed to even touch the trees over there? You’ll get killed if you do!”
“You touched the house once!”

“That was different! You go gargle—right now, you hear me?”

“Ain’t neither, it’ll take the taste outa my mouth.”

“You don’t ‘n’ I’ll tell Calpurnia on you!” Rather than risk a tangle with Calpurnia, I did as Jem told me. For some reason, my first year of school had wrought a great change in our relationship: Calpurnia’s tyranny, unfairness, and meddling in my business had faded to gentle grumblings of general disapproval. On my part, I went to much trouble, sometimes, not to provoke her.

Summer was on the way; Jem and I awaited it with impatience. Summer was our best season: it was sleeping on the back screened porch in cots, or trying to sleep in the treehouse; summer was everything good to eat; it was a thousand colors in a parched landscape; but most of all, summer was Dill.

The authorities released us early the last day of school, and Jem and I walked home together. “Reckon old Dill’ll be coming home tomorrow,” I said.

“Probably day after,” said Jem. “Mis’sippi turns ’em loose a day later.”

As we came to the live oaks at the Radley Place I raised my finger to point for the hundredth time to the knot-hole where I had found the chewing gum, trying to make Jem believe I had found it there, and found myself pointing at another piece of tinfoil.

“I see it, Scout! I see it—”

Jem looked around, reached up, and gingerly pocketed a tiny shiny package. We ran home, and on the front porch we looked at a small box patchworked with bits of tinfoil collected from chewing-gum wrappers. It was the kind of box wedding rings came in, purple velvet with a minute catch. Jem flicked open the tiny catch. Inside were two scrubbed and polished pennies, one on top of the other. Jem examined them.

“Indian-heads,” he said. “Nineteen-six and Scout, one of ’em’s nineteen-hundred. These are real old.”

“Nineteen-hundred,” I echoed. “Say—”

“Hush a minute, I’m thinkin’.”

“Jem, you reckon that’s somebody’s hidin’ place?”

“Naw, don’t anybody much but us pass by there, unless it’s some grown person’s—”

“Grown folks don’t have hidin’ places. You reckon we ought to keep ’em, Jem?”

“I don’t know what we could do, Scout. Whoid we give ’em back to? I know for a fact don’t anybody go by there—Cecil goes by the back street an’ all the way around by town to get home.”

Cecil Jacobs, who lived at the far end of our street next door to the post office, walked a total of one mile per school day to avoid the Radley Place and old Mrs. Henry Lafayette Dubose. Mrs. Dubose lived two doors up the street from us; neighborhood opinion was unanimous that Mrs. Dubose was the meanest old woman who ever lived. Jem wouldn’t go by her place without Atticus beside him.

“What you reckon we oughta do, Jem?”

Finders were keepers unless title was proven. Plucking an occasional camellia, getting a squirt of hot milk from Miss Maudie Atkinson’s cow on a summer day, helping ourselves to someone’s scuppernongs was part of our ethical culture, but money was different.
“Tell you what,” said Jem. “We’ll keep ‘em till school starts, then go around and ask everybody if they’re theirs. They’re some bus child’s, maybe—he was too taken up with gettin’ outa school today an’ forgot ‘em. These are somebody’s, I know that. See how they’ve been slicked up? They’ve been saved.”

“Yeah, but why should somebody wanta put away chewing gum like that? You know it doesn’t last.”

“I don’t know, Scout. But these are important to somebody. ...”

“How’s that, Jem. ...?”

“Well, Indian-heads—well, they come from the Indians. They’re real strong magic, they make you have good luck. Not like fried chicken when you’re not lookin’ for it, but things like long life ’n’ good health, ’n’ passin’ six-weeks tests ... these are real valuable to somebody. I’m gonna put ‘em in my trunk.”

Before Jem went to his room, he looked for a long time at the Radley Place. He seemed to be thinking again.

Second Read

• Reread the novel excerpt to answer these text-dependent questions.
• Write any additional questions you have about the text in your Reader/Writer Notebook.

2. Key Ideas and Details: What does Scout’s changing relationship with Calpurnia suggest about Scout’s coming of age?

3. Key Ideas and Details: Why do the children struggle with what to do with the pennies they find? What does this suggest about their characters?

4. Key Ideas and Details: At the end of this excerpt, Jem is “thinking again.” What might Jem be considering that the younger Scout hasn’t thought of?

5. Craft and Structure: How does language help characterize the children?
Working from the Text

6. The character of Boo Radley is a motif in To Kill a Mockingbird, and the incidents involving the children’s fascination with him form one of the major subplots of the novel. In your discussion group, divide the following passages that explore this motif and subplot in further depth.

Passage 1: Chapter 4 (from “Let’s roll in the tire ...” to the end of Chapter 4)

Passage 2: Chapter 5 (from “Next morning when I ...” to the end of Chapter 5)

Passage 3: Chapter 6 (from “What are you gonna do?” to “Settle it yourselves.”)

Form an expert group with other students who have selected the same passage. Conduct a close reading of your passage, using sticky notes to mark textual evidence and record your questions, commentary, predictions, inferences, and conclusions.

Work together to complete the appropriate row of the graphic organizer on the following page.

7. Return to your discussion group and share your expert group’s observations, interpretations, and evidence. Take notes in the appropriate row as you listen to the other group members analyze their passage.

8. Independent Practice: As you read the rest of Chapters 4–6, revisit this graphic organizer to add additional details, commentary, and evidence, and to evaluate whether or not you agree with the “expert” analysis.

Check Your Understanding

Construct an interpretive statement about how the experience of finding gifts in the knothole of the Radley live oak tree has helped Jem and Scout come of age.

Writing to Sources: Explanatory Text

Write a paragraph to explain how the experience of finding gifts in the knothole of the Radley live oak tree has helped Jem and Scout come of age. Be sure to:

- Include a well-stated topic sentence.
- Include direct quotations and specific examples from the text.
- Use a coherent organization structure and make connections between specific words, images, and ideas conveyed.
Analyzing Boo

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Objective Summary of the Passage</th>
<th>Statement About How This Is a Coming-of-Age Experience</th>
<th>Key Textual Evidence to Support Your Interpretation</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Passage 1:</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Passage 2:</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Passage 3:</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
Questions and Conclusions

Learning Targets

• Use Levels of Questions to identify themes in Chapters 7–9.
• Write thematic statements and a conclusion paragraph.

Levels of Questions

1. Themes in literature usually revolve around ideas that apply to multiple situations. Using Levels of Questions can help you identify those universal themes in a text.

Sample: What does Harper Lee have to say about prejudice through Boo Radley’s character?

First Read: Chapter 7

2. Read and analyze the first chunk of Chapter 7 with your class, generating questions at all three levels. Share your responses to the questions in a class discussion.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Chunk 1: From the start of Chapter 7 to “I’d have the facts.”</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Level 1 Question: Literal Questions (“What does the text say?”)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Level 2 Question: Interpretive Questions (“What does the text mean?”)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Level 3 Question: Universal Questions (“Why does it matter?”)</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

3. Read and analyze the second and third chunks with a small group, and generate three Levels of Questions for each chunk. Share your responses to the questions in a group discussion.
Working from the Text: Chapter 7

4. Work with your discussion group to identify several topics and thematic statements that can be made by examining the character of Boo Radley and how the children interact with him. What coming-of-age lessons have the children learned from these experiences?
5. Good conclusions support the information and explanations presented in an essay. One way to write a conclusion is to connect the thesis statement to literal, interpretive, and universal statements. Read the following model conclusion from a passage analysis. Mark the text as follows:
- Highlight the thesis statement.
- Put an “L” in the margin next to literal statements.
- Put an “I” in the margin next to interpretive statements.
- Put a “U” in the margin next to universal statements.

Model Conclusion
In this passage, Harper Lee uses the motif of Boo Radley to convey the theme that sometimes stereotypes limit our expectations. When Jem goes back to the Radley Place to retrieve his lost pants, his pants are folded across the fence, waiting for him. The way that they are sewn—all crooked—shows that someone inexperienced with sewing is trying to help him stay out of trouble: the same someone who has been watching the children, leaving them gifts, and laughing when a tire rolls into his yard carrying a dizzy and frightened little girl. Jem and Scout had come to expect only evil from Boo Radley, so Boo’s friendliness and helpfulness are unexpected. The message we might all take away from this passage is that peoples’ actions are more important than what others say about them.

6. Independent Practice: As you read Chapters 8 and 9, chunk each chapter into at least three sections and use sticky notes to generate Levels of Questions for each chunk.

Check Your Understanding
After you read Chapters 8 and 9, return to your discussion group to share and respond to one another’s questions. Work together with your class to identify topics introduced in these chapters, and write thematic statements that show Harper Lee’s opinion.

Explanatory Writing Prompt
Choose one of the topics that is introduced in a passage from Chapters 7–9 and write a conclusion to an essay analyzing how motif (Boo), subplot (the fire), conflict (Scout vs. Francis), setting (Finch’s Landing), or character (Uncle Jack) contributes to that theme. Be sure to:
- Begin with a statement that reflects the thesis of the essay as in the model above.
- Include factual, interpretive, and universal statements.
- Use the present tense, literary vocabulary, and formal style consistently.
Learning Targets

• Analyze how an author uses multiple literary elements in one passage to develop a theme.
• Compare a key scene in text and film to identify how literary elements are portrayed in each medium.

Preview

In this passage from To Kill a Mockingbird, you will read a short but important scene and compare this scene to the film version.

Setting a Purpose for Reading

• Highlight references to the title of the novel.
• Circle unknown words and phrases. Try to determine the meaning of the words by using context clues, word parts, or a dictionary.

Novel

from

To Kill a Mockingbird

(Chapter 10)

1 When he gave us our air rifles Atticus wouldn't teach us to shoot. Uncle Jack instructed us in the rudiments thereof; he said Atticus wasn’t interested in guns. Atticus said to Jem one day, "I'd rather you shot at tin cans in the back yard, but I know you’ll go after birds. Shoot all the bluejays you want, if you can hit 'em, but remember it's a sin to kill a mockingbird.”

2 That was the only time I ever heard Atticus say it was a sin to do something, and I asked Miss Maudie about it.

3 “Your father's right,” she said. “Mockingbirds don't do one thing but make music for us to enjoy. They don't eat up people's gardens, don't nest in corncribs, they don't do one thing but sing their hearts out for us. That's why it's a sin to kill a mockingbird.”

Collaborative Discussion: Chapter 10

• Based on your understanding of Atticus’s character, why do you think he isn’t interested in guns?
• How does Miss Maudie’s information about mockingbirds add to Atticus’s comment that “it’s a sin to kill a mockingbird”?
• Based on this passage, what might a mockingbird symbolize?

1. Work with a small group to conduct a close reading of Chapter 10. Choose one of the following literary elements to focus on: character, conflict, or setting. Use sticky notes to mark the text for evidence of the importance of your chosen literary element.
Working from the Text

2. After you discuss each of the literary elements and textual evidence with your group, you will view a film clip of the scene. Take notes below on how each of the elements is portrayed similarly or differently in the film.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Setting</th>
<th>Conflict</th>
<th>Character</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

3. Compare the two versions of the scene. Why is each appropriate for the medium of film or literature?

4. If the mad dog symbolizes the madness of racism, what is a possible theme introduced in this chapter?
Check Your Understanding

Consider the following thesis statement:
In Chapter 10, Harper Lee uses the killing of the mad dog as a symbolic act to develop the theme that racism is a dangerous threat to any peaceful community.

Write your own thesis statement about how the literary element that you analyzed from Chapter 10 contributes to a theme.

Writing to Sources: Explanatory Text

Compare and contrast the scene in the book vs. the depiction in the film. Explain how they are alike and where they differ. Be sure to:

- Include a well-developed topic sentence.
- Include elements that are both similar and different.
- Cite details from the text and the film to support your explanation.
Learning Targets

- Write an interpretive statement about the significance of literary elements.
- Gather textual evidence to generate theme statements.

Preview

In this activity, you will read an excerpt from Chapter 11 in order to analyze conflict and character.

Setting a Purpose for Reading

- Underline descriptions of settings and character.
- Circle unknown words and phrases. Try to determine the meaning of the words by using context clues, word parts, or a dictionary.
- Draw a star next to any indications of conflict.

Novel

from

To Kill a Mockingbird

(Chapter 11)

1 When we were small, Jem and I confined our activities to the southern neighborhood, but when I was well into the second grade at school and tormenting Boo Radley became passé, the business section of Maycomb drew us frequently up the street past the real property of Mrs. Henry Lafayette Dubose. It was impossible to go to town without passing her house unless we wished to walk a mile out of the way. Previous minor encounters with her left me with no desire for more, but Jem said I had to grow up some time.

2 Mrs. Dubose lived alone except for a Negro girl in constant attendance, two doors up the street from us in a house with steep front steps and a dog-trot hall. She was very old; she spent most of each day in bed and the rest of it in a wheelchair. It was rumored that she kept a CSA pistol concealed among her numerous shawls and wraps.

3 Jem and I hated her. If she was on the porch when we passed, we would be raked by her wrathful gaze, subjected to ruthless interrogations regarding our behavior, and given a melancholy prediction on what we would amount to when we grew up, which was always nothing. We had long ago given up the idea of walking past her house on the opposite side of the street; that only made her raise her voice and let the whole neighborhood in on it.

4 We could do nothing to please her. If I said as sunnily as I could, “Hey, Mrs. Dubose,” I would receive for an answer, “Don’t you say hey to me, you ugly girl! You say good afternoon, Mrs. Dubose!”
She was vicious. Once she heard Jem refer to our father as “Atticus” and her reaction was apoplectic. Besides being the sassiest, most disrespectful mutts who ever passed her way, we were told that it was quite a pity our father had not remarried after our mother’s death. A lovelier lady than our mother never lived, she said, and it was heartbreaking the way Atticus Finch let her children run wild. I did not remember our mother, but Jem did—he would tell me about her sometimes—and he went livid when Mrs. Dubose shot us this message.

Working from the Text

1. Consider the significance of character, conflict, and setting in the passage you just read. Ask yourself: Why are these literary elements important? How do they connect to the larger issues in the novel?

   Use the following sentence stems to generate an interpretive statement about each of these elements.

   • The character of Mrs. Dubose represents …

   • The conflict between the children and Mrs. Dubose is similar to …

   • The setting of Mrs. Dubose’s house, halfway between the Finch home and the town, is significant because …

2. In the following quotation, Atticus gives Jem advice on how to deal with Mrs. Dubose. Consider what this advice might be foreshadowing.

   “You just hold your head high and be a gentleman. Whatever she says to you, it’s your job not to let her make you mad.”

   Rewrite Atticus’s advice as a statement or “life lesson.”

3. Independent Practice: As you read the rest of Chapter 11, use sticky notes to record textual evidence of Atticus’s advice to Jem and Scout concerning Mrs. Dubose.
Identifying Themes

4. Work with your class to gather evidence of Atticus’s “life lessons” from other chapters. Create and illustrate a poster with the quotes and life lessons.

5. Use the quotes to identify themes based on the lessons Atticus wants his children to learn as they come of age. Create a web of these and other themes Harper Lee explores in Part One of To Kill a Mockingbird.

When identifying themes, keep in mind the following:

- A theme is a message, not just a topic, and it cannot be just a word, such as prejudice. A theme from To Kill a Mockingbird would be “Prejudice is based on fear.”
- Avoid clichés such as “Blood is thicker than water.”
- Don’t state a theme as an order: “People must not be racist.”
- Themes should be universal, not limited to the characters in a novel. “Scout is a tomboy” is not a theme.
Language and Writer’s Craft: Incorporating Quotations

Quotations are powerful pieces of text evidence that can be used to support your literary analysis. However, quotations must be integrated into the body of your analysis smoothly and carefully, so that it is clear how the quoted text relates to the logical flow of ideas in your writing.

Use the TLQC (Transition, Lead-in, Quote, Commentary) method to integrate your quotes, with commentary, in a literary analysis essay:

- Transition: A transitional word, phrase, or clause can be used to begin introducing your quote. The type of transition will depend on how the quotation follows from the previous idea. Some commonly used transitions are for example, in addition, as a result, regardless, and after all.

- Lead-in: Give background for the quote by identifying the situation in which it occurs, who is speaking, or any other information necessary to set the quote in context.

- Quote: Place quoted text in quotation marks, and remember to include a parenthetical citation.

- Commentary: Follow up the quote with an explanation of what the quote shows or how it is relevant to the point you are making.

PRACTICE Identify the transition, lead-in, quote, and commentary in the following example:

For example, Jem never loses his calm as he reads to Mrs. Dubose. Scout observes that “Through the weeks he had cultivated an expression of polite and detached interest, which he would present to her in answer to her most blood-curdling inventions” (146). Jem is taking his father’s advice and growing into the kind of man who will not get dragged down by other people’s anger.

Check Your Understanding

Choose a literary element (character, conflict, or setting) from Chapter 11 and explain how it connects to the larger issues in the novel.

Explanatory Writing Prompt

Analyze how character, conflict, or setting contribute to a coming-of-age theme in Chapter 11. Be sure to:

- Begin with a topic sentence that connects your chosen literary element to a theme.
- Include textual evidence in the form of direct quotations from Chapter 11.
- Provide commentary explaining how your quotes support your analysis.

INDEPENDENT READING LINK

Read and Research

Choose one of your independent reading selections. Identify the themes in the selection. Make a web like the one you made for the themes in To Kill a Mockingbird. Record your observations about your independent reading selection.
Learning Targets

• Create an outline for an analytical essay about how literary elements contribute to a theme.
• Analyze the purpose of literary elements and the effects they have on readers.

Research Reflections

1. Discuss: Before you begin Part 2 of the novel, review your notes from the first half of this unit in which you researched and presented the context of the novel’s setting and publication.
   • How did the experience of researching and presenting context enhance your understanding of the novel?
   • How has it informed your understanding of how readers would have responded to the text in 1960?
   • What specific topics from the presentations are relevant to the issues raised so far in the novel?

2. Part of coming of age is understanding that your perspective of the world is not the only one—that other perspectives based on different cultures, nationalities, religions, political beliefs, customs, languages, and values are just as real and valid as your own. Brainstorm experiences that you have had that have exposed you to different perspectives.

Close Reading: Chapter 12

3. You will conduct a close reading of a passage from Chapter 12, marking the text for evidence of how setting, character, and conflict contribute to following theme:
   Coming of age involves recognizing different perspectives.

Working from the Text

4. Work with your class to complete the outline that follows for an essay about how literary elements in this passage contribute to the theme “Coming of age involves recognizing different perspectives.”
Outline for a Passage-Analysis Essay

I. Introduction:
   Hook: Anecdote, Quote, Question, or Statement of Intrigue
   Thesis:

II. Body (Support Paragraph)
   Topic Sentence:
   Textual Evidence:

III. Body (Support Paragraph):
   Topic Sentence:
   Textual Evidence:

V. Body (Support Paragraph):
   Topic Sentence:
   Textual Evidence:

VI. Conclusion:
   Restate Thesis:
   Literal/Interpretive/Universal Statements:

5. Look for more textual evidence in Chapter 12 to support the topic sentences in your outline.
Check Your Understanding
How can perspective and context enhance your understanding of the novel?

Drafting the Embedded Assessment
Draft an explanatory paragraph that analyzes two different literary elements from the text. Consider the purpose the author had in using those literary elements and the effect they have on readers. Remember to include all the features that you have practiced. Be sure to:

- Begin with an analytical claim about the use of two different literary elements.
- Include at least one example of each of the literary elements.
- Use transitional devices to show the relationship between examples and commentaries.
- Provide a conclusion that summarizes the thesis.

6. Independent Practice: After you read Chapters 13–14, choose a passage to reread and mark for at least two different literary elements. Use the outline above as a model of an outline for your passage analysis.
Learning Targets

• Compare and contrast how a theme is developed in a key scene in film and text.
• Conduct a close read and analyze significant literary elements.

Making Inferences

1. Quickwrite: Your teacher will show you a photo (or photos) of Atticus and Scout as a visual prompt for exploring how character, setting, and conflict are conveyed in a film text. What can you infer from the image about each of these literary elements?

Close Reading: Chapter 15

2. Conduct a close reading of the passage in Chapter 15 that begins with a description of the Maycomb jail and continues until the end of the chapter. Work with a small group to record textual evidence of significant literary elements in the graphic organizer below.
Working from the Text

3. Work together to identify a theme. Ask yourself what Scout, Dill, or Jem could learn from this experience, even if they may not recognize it yet.

4. Write at least two interpretive statements about how different literary elements contributed to the theme.

5. As you view a film version of this scene, use the graphic organizer below to take notes on the cinematic techniques. Review cinematic techniques in Unit 2 if necessary.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Angles/Framing</th>
<th>Lighting</th>
<th>Sound</th>
<th>Other</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>(High/low angles, eye level, close-up, two shot, long shot)</td>
<td>(Bottom/side/front/back, high/low key)</td>
<td>(Diegetic [including dialogue], non-diegetic)</td>
<td>(Camera movements, editing techniques)</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

6. Discuss: What are some of the differences between the film and text versions? What changes in dialogue were made?
A Solitary Light

Check Your Understanding
Why might changes have been made in the transformation from text to film?

Explanatory Writing Prompt
Compare and contrast the text and film versions of this scene. How do different literary and cinematic elements contribute to a theme? Which do you think is more effective? Be sure to:

- Begin with a topic sentence or thesis that clearly states a theme.
- Include textual evidence from the text and the film.
- Provide commentary comparing and contrasting the use of literary elements and cinematic techniques.

7. Independent Practice: Read Chapter 16 and choose a key scene to visualize and sketch. Annotate your scene with textual evidence and commentary to explain the choices you made in details, angles, framing, and background.
Learning Targets

• Recognize the rhetorical appeals used in a speech.
• In a written paragraph, compare and contrast the use of rhetorical appeals in a key scene in two mediums.

Working from the Text: Chapters 17–19

1. Review the testimony presented in Chapters 17–19. Which rhetorical appeals do the lawyers and witnesses use? Find textual evidence of each of the following:
   - Logos: an appeal to logic or reason
   - Ethos: an appeal to ethics or the character of the speaker
   - Pathos: an appeal to senses or emotions

Discuss:

• Which speakers rely primarily on pathos?
• Which speakers would have had difficulty appealing to ethos?
• What evidence comes to light through appeals to logos?

Preview

In this activity, you will read, take note of rhetorical appeals, and analyze Atticus’s closing argument from Chapter 20.

Setting a Purpose for Reading

• Highlight rhetorical appeals (ethos, logos, and pathos).
• Circle unknown words and phrases. Try to determine the meaning of the words by using context clues, word parts, or a dictionary.
• Draw a star next to any elements of an argument (hook, claim, evidence, counterclaims, and call to action).
"Gentlemen," he was saying, "I shall be brief, but I would like to use my remaining time with you to remind you that this case is not a difficult one, it requires no minute sifting of complicated facts, but it does require you to be sure beyond all reasonable doubt as to the guilt of the defendant. To begin with, this case should never have come to trial. This case is as simple as black and white.

The state has not produced one iota of medical evidence to the effect that the crime Tom Robinson is charged with ever took place. It has relied instead upon the testimony of two witnesses whose evidence has not only been called into serious question on cross-examination, but has been flatly contradicted by the defendant. The defendant is not guilty, but somebody in this courtroom is.

I have nothing but pity in my heart for the chief witness for the state, but my pity does not extend so far as to her putting a man's life at stake, which she has done in an effort to get rid of her own guilt.

I say guilt, gentlemen, because it was guilt that motivated her. She has committed no crime, she has merely broken a rigid and time-honored code of our society, a code so severe that whoever breaks it is hounded from our midst as unfit to live with. She is the victim of cruel poverty and ignorance, but I cannot pity her: she is white. She knew full well the enormity of her offense, but because her desires were stronger than the code she was breaking, she persisted in breaking it. She persisted, and her subsequent reaction is something that all of us have known at one time or another. She did something every child has done—she tried to put the evidence of her offense away from her. But in this case she was no child hiding stolen contraband: she struck out at her victim—of necessity she must put him away from her—he must be removed from her presence, from this world. She must destroy the evidence of her offense.

What was the evidence of her offense? Tom Robinson, a human being. She must put Tom Robinson away from her. Tom Robinson was her daily reminder of what she did. What did she do? She tempted a Negro.

She was white, and she tempted a Negro. She did something that in our society is unspeakable: she kissed a black man. Not an old Uncle, but a strong young Negro man. No code mattered to her before she broke it, but it came crashing down on her afterwards.

What was the evidence of her offense? Tom Robinson, a human being. She must put Tom Robinson away from her. Tom Robinson was her daily reminder of what she did. What did she do? She tempted a Negro.

She was white, and she tempted a Negro. She did something that in our society is unspeakable: she kissed a black man. Not an old Uncle, but a strong young Negro man. No code mattered to her before she broke it, but it came crashing down on her afterwards.

Her father saw it, and the defendant has testified as to his remarks. What did her father do? We don't know, but there is circumstantial evidence to indicate that Mayella Ewell was beaten savagely by someone who led almost exclusively with his left. We do know in part what Mr. Ewell did: he did what any God-fearing, persevering, respectable white man would do under the circumstances—he swore out a warrant, no doubt signing it with his left hand, and Tom Robinson now sits before you, having taken the oath with the only good hand he possesses—his right hand.
8 “And so a quiet, respectable, humble Negro who had the unmitigated temerity to ‘feel sorry’ for a white woman has had to put his word against two white people’s. I need not remind you of their appearance and conduct on the stand—you saw them for yourselves. The witnesses for the state, with the exception of the sheriff of Maycomb County, have presented themselves to you gentlemen, to this court, in the cynical confidence that their testimony would not be doubted, confident that you gentlemen would go along with them on the assumption—the evil assumption—that all Negroes lie, that all Negroes are basically immoral beings, that all Negro men are not to be trusted around our women, an assumption one associates with minds of their caliber.

9 “Which, gentlemen, we know is in itself a lie as black as Tom Robinson’s skin, a lie I do not have to point out to you. You know the truth, and the truth is this: some Negroes lie, some Negroes are immoral, some Negro men are not to be trusted around women—black or white. But this is a truth that applies to the human race and to no particular race of men. There is not a person in this courtroom who has never told a lie, who has never done an immoral thing, and there is no man living who has never looked upon a woman without desire.”

10 Atticus paused and took out his handkerchief. Then he took off his glasses and wiped them, and we saw another “first”: we had never seen him sweat—he was one of those men whose faces never perspired, but now it was shining tan.

11 “One more thing, gentlemen, before I quit. Thomas Jefferson once said that all men are created equal, a phrase that the Yankees and the distaff side of the Executive branch in Washington are fond of hurling at us. There is a tendency in this year of grace, 1935, for certain people to use this phrase out of context, to satisfy all conditions. The most ridiculous example I can think of is that the people who run public education promote the stupid and idle along with the industrious—because all men are created equal, educators will gravely tell you, the children left behind suffer terrible feelings of inferiority. We know all men are not created equal in the sense some people would have us believe—some people are smarter than others, some people have more opportunity because they’re born with it, some men make more money than others, some ladies make better cakes than others—some people are born gifted beyond the normal scope of most men.

12 “But there is one way in this country in which all men are created equal—there is one human institution that makes a pauper the equal of a Rockefeller, the stupid man the equal of an Einstein, and the ignorantly malicious man the equal of any college president. That institution, gentlemen, is a court. It can be the Supreme Court of the United States or the humblest J.P. court in the land, or this honorable court which you serve. Our courts have their faults, as does any human institution, but in this country our courts are the great levelers, and in our courts all men are created equal.

13 “I’m no idealist to believe firmly in the integrity of our courts and in the jury system—that is no ideal to me, it is a living, working reality. Gentlemen, a court is no better than each man of you sitting before me on this jury. A court is only as sound as its jury, and a jury is only as sound as the men who make it up. I am confident that you gentlemen will review without passion the evidence you have heard, come to a decision, and restore this defendant to his family. In the name of God, do your duty.”

14 Atticus’s voice had dropped, and as he turned away from the jury he said something I did not catch. He said it more to himself than to the court. I punched Jem. “What’d he say?”

15 “In the name of God, believe him,’ I think that’s what he said.”
Analyzing Atticus’s Closing Argument

Second Read
- Reread the novel excerpt to answer these text-dependent questions.
- Write any additional questions you have about the text in your Reader/Writer Notebook.

2. Key Ideas and Details: What does Atticus mean when he says, “This case is as simple as black and white”?

3. Key Ideas and Details: What tone does Atticus use when describing Mayella to the court?

4. Key Ideas and Details: Why is it significant that Atticus is sweating while delivering his closing statement?

5. Key Ideas and Details: According to Atticus, what is the one way that all men are created equal?

6. Key Ideas and Details: How does Atticus feel about Tom Robinson? How can you tell?

Working from the Text
7. Perform a close reading of Atticus’s closing statement. Use the SMELL strategy to complete your analysis.
S = Sender-receiver relationship. Atticus is the sender. The jury and the audience are the receivers. What is the relationship among Atticus, the jury, and the audience? Whom does Atticus mean to influence with his statement? What attitudes and assumptions does his target audience hold toward his subject? Toward Atticus himself?

M = Message. What is Atticus’s message? Summarize the statements made in his closing argument.

E = Emotional strategies. Does Atticus use any statements that are meant to get an emotional reaction from his audience? Explain. If so, what is the desired effect?

L = Logical strategies. Does Atticus use any statements or appeals that are logical? Explain. How does the logic (or its absence) affect the message?

L = Language. Look for specific words and phrases used by Atticus, and consider how the language affects his message.

INDEPENDENT READING LINK

Read and Respond
Examine the texts you have read independently to analyze the voice of the main character and one or two of the most important supporting characters. Since they are all coming-of-age texts, what similarities, if any, did you notice in the voices? How does the voice contribute to your understanding of the character? Is the voice of a main character in one text stronger than those in the other texts? Why?
8. As you watch the film version of the courtroom scene, fill out the chart below with specific details from the scene.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>What images does the director present to the audience?</th>
<th>What images does the director consciously choose NOT to present to the audience?</th>
<th>What do you notice about the relationship between the speech and the images?</th>
<th>What changes or deletions do you notice in the text of Atticus’s speech?</th>
</tr>
</thead>
</table>

Check Your Understanding

Which rhetorical appeal does Atticus rely on most heavily for his closing argument? Why?

Writing to Sources: Argument

Which version of Atticus’s appeal is more effective—the one in the text or the one in the film? Write an argument that addresses the question and supports your position with evidence from the text and the film. Be sure to:

- Write a precise claim and support it with valid reasoning and evidence from the film and the text.
- Integrate quotes from the text using the TLQC method (transition, lead-in, quote, and commentary).
- Provide a concluding statement that follows from the argument you have presented.

9. Independent Practice: As you read Chapters 21–23, take notes on the different characters’ reactions to the verdict.
Learning Targets

- Analyze the significance of literary elements in a passage in relation to a theme of the novel.
- Write a thesis statement and topic sentences for an essay that explains how literary elements contribute to a theme of the novel.

Socratic Seminar

1. Your teacher will lead you in a Socratic Seminar in which you discuss the verdict of the trial. Read the questions and write your responses below. Then, write at least one question at each Level to use in the discussion.
   - Why is Jem so optimistic before he hears the verdict?
   - How and why is Scout’s reaction to the verdict different from Jem’s?

2. After your discussion, work with your group to co-construct a statement synthesizing your response to the question(s):

3. Work with your class to co-construct a statement about how the trial was a coming-of-age experience for Jem.

4. Revisit the theme web that you created in Activity 3.16, and consider the lessons Scout and Jem learn in Part 2 as they interact with the world outside their neighborhood. Add more thematic statements related to coming of age to your web.
5. As you read Chapter 24, consider the significance of the chapter to the meaning of the novel as a whole. Complete the graphic organizer below by analyzing how different literary elements contribute to a recurring theme of the novel.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Analysis of a Literary Element in Chapter 24</th>
<th>Textual Evidence (Quote from text)</th>
<th>Theme of the Novel as a Whole</th>
<th>Evidence of This Theme in Another Chapter</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Character:</td>
<td>Grace Merriweather’s character represents the irony of someone who claims to be religious but is actually a hypocrite.</td>
<td>Racism is a disease that infects a person’s mind and soul.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Setting:</td>
<td>The setting of the missionary tea in the Finches' living room</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Conflict:</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Plot event:</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

6. Discuss: How does Scout's perspective on what it means to be a lady evolve during this scene? How are the events in this chapter a coming-of-age experience for her?
Language and Writer’s Craft: Topic Sentences and Transitions

Topic sentences and transitions are important ways of bringing structure and flow to your writing. Your thesis—your assertion about the topic—will be stated in the introduction of your essay. Body paragraphs then explain the main ideas that work together to support your thesis. A topic sentence of a body paragraph is a statement of the main idea of that paragraph.

Transitions guide readers through your essay by showing how ideas are connected. Some transitions, such as for example and therefore, often work to provide coherence among sentences—to link one sentence to the next. Common transitions are shown in the table below.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Similarity</th>
<th>Contrast</th>
<th>Cause/Effect</th>
<th>Introduction</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Likewise</td>
<td>In contrast</td>
<td>As a result</td>
<td>For example</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Similarly</td>
<td>However</td>
<td>Therefore</td>
<td>For instance</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>In the same way</td>
<td>Conversely</td>
<td>Consequently</td>
<td>In particular</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Accordingly</td>
<td>To illustrate</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Other transitions help you link paragraphs and main ideas to your thesis. A three-fold transition is an example of this type of transition.

Three-fold transitions help you make logical connections between your points in an essay. They are typically used to introduce the second, third, and remaining body paragraphs, as a way to call the reader’s mind back to the thesis. A three-fold transition sentence does the following:

- refers subtly to the idea discussed in the previous paragraph
- refers briefly to the overall thesis idea
- refers more specifically to the new idea to be discussed in this paragraph

PRACTICE Add at least two transitions to the following paragraph.

To Kill a Mockingbird highlights the difference between two methods of education. Miss Caroline favors a structured, inflexible method in which students must all meet the same set of expectations. “We don’t write in the first grade, we print. You won’t learn to write until you’re in the third grade” (27). Atticus favors a flexible approach to education that reflects the unique gifts of each child.
7. Work with your discussion group to write a thesis statement and topic sentences for an essay about how the literary elements in Chapter 24 contribute to a theme of the work as a whole.

Thesis:

Topic Sentence:

Topic Sentence:

Topic Sentence:

8. Work with your group to revise at least one of your topic sentences using three-fold transitions. Sample: After recognizing the irony in her society, Scout matures even further as she recognizes the strength of Miss Maudie’s quiet, calm responses to her conflict with Grace Merriweather.

Check Your Understanding

Explain the significance of Chapter 24 and how it relates to the novel as a whole.

Drafting the Embedded Assessment

Draft an introductory paragraph for your essay about how the literary elements in Chapter 24 contribute to a theme of the work as a whole. Be sure to:

• State your thesis clearly in the first sentence.
• Present your main supporting details.
• Provide a transition to the body paragraphs.

9. Independent Practice: As you read Chapters 25–27, consider passages that you could analyze to show how literary elements contribute to a theme of the novel as a whole.
Learning Targets
• Identify character traits and create a character profile poster collaboratively.
• Evaluate how primary and secondary characters and their interactions contribute to the development of a novel’s themes.

Analyzing Characters
1. Quickwrite: Consider the following quote from the novel:

   “Atticus was right. One time he said you never really know a man until you stand in his shoes and walk around in them.” — Scout

   When have Scout, Jem, or Dill had to look at the world from other people’s perspectives? What have they learned from other residents of Maycomb?

2. Work in a small group to list the primary (major) and secondary (minor) characters you can identify from the novel. Indicate whether these characters are static or dynamic. When you have finished, make notes on the thematic subjects that secondary characters might represent in the novel.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Primary Characters</th>
<th>Static or Dynamic</th>
<th>Secondary Characters and Thematic Topics They Represent</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Literary Terms
A flat or static character is uncomplicated, staying the same without changing or growing during the story. A round or dynamic character evolves and grows in the story and has a complex personality.

WORD CONNECTIONS
Roots and Affixes
The word dynamic comes from the Greek word meaning “powerful.” The root dyna appears in dynamo, dynamite, and dynasty. Static also comes from a Greek word, statikos, referring to something firm or fixed. Other English words with the root stat include status, station, statistics, and statue.
3. Working with a partner, create a character profile poster. Your poster should include the following elements:
   - a picture or graphic representation of the character
   - a physical description from the novel
   - a list of several adjectives describing the character’s personality, values, and/or motives
   - a description of the plot events in which this character is involved
   - a quotation about him or her from another character
   - a quotation by the character that reveals his or her values

4. As you view the posters your class creates, take notes in the graphic organizer below on at least two characters other than your own.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Character and Description</th>
<th>Events Involving the Character</th>
<th>Textual Evidence</th>
<th>Theme Related to This Character</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Check Your Understanding

Work with a partner to review the Events column of your graphic organizer. Choose an event that you think is important and locate the most significant passage describing that event. Explain why this passage is important using text evidence to support your answer.

Writing to Sources: Explanatory Text

Explain how the author uses the voices of her characters to develop and distinguish their personalities. Be sure to:
   - Describe the voice of each character you write about.
   - Include multiple direct quotations from the text to support your claims.
   - Include transitions between points and a statement that provides a conclusion.

5. Independent Practice: As you read Chapter 28, annotate each page with sticky notes. Pay close attention to the literary elements, and note how the tone shifts with different plot events.
Controversy in Context

Learning Targets

- Analyze a nonfiction text about various controversies surrounding the novel To Kill a Mockingbird.
- Evaluate the techniques and effectiveness of an argument.
- Use the RAFT strategy to compose an argument in writing.

Literal and Figurative

1. Quickwrite: Chapter 27 ended with the line “Thus began our longest journey together.” What are the literal and figurative meanings of the word “journey”? How is reading a novel similar to and different from taking a journey?

Preview

In this activity, you will read an essay about the controversies in To Kill a Mockingbird and analyze the historical context in which it’s set.

Setting a Purpose for Reading

- Underline the evidence in the arguments for and against the novel.
- Circle unknown words and phrases. Try to determine the meaning of the words by using context clues, word parts, or a dictionary.

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Nicholas J. Karolides is an associate lecturer and professor emeritus of English at the University of Wisconsin-River Falls. The author and editor of books for young adults, he has also written about the topics of the politics of suppression and censorship of literary works.

Essay

from “In Defense of To Kill a Mockingbird”

by Nicholas J. Karolides, et al.

1 The critical career of To Kill a Mockingbird is a late twentieth-century case study of censorship. When Harper Lee’s novel about a small southern town and its prejudices was published in 1960, the book received favorable reviews in professional journals and the popular press. Typical of that opinion, Booklist’s reviewer called the book “melodramatic” and noted “traces of sermonizing,” but the book was recommended for... library purchase, commending its “rare blend of wit and compassion.” Reviewers did not suggest that the book was young-adult literature, or that it belonged in adolescent collections; perhaps that is why no one mentioned the book’s language or violence. In any event, reviewers seemed inclined to agree that To Kill a Mockingbird was a worthwhile interpretation of the South’s existing social structures during the 1930s. In 1961 the book won the Pulitzer Prize Award, the Alabama Library Association Book Award, and the Brotherhood Award of the National Conference of Christians and Jews. It seemed that Harper Lee’s blend of family history, local custom, and restrained sermonizing was important reading, and with a young girl between the ages of six and nine as the main character, To Kill a Mockingbird moved rapidly into junior and senior high school libraries and curriculum. The book was not destined to be studied by college students. Southern literature’s critics rarely mentioned it; few university professors found it noteworthy enough to “teach” as an exemplary southern novel.

2 By the mid-sixties To Kill a Mockingbird had a solid place in junior and senior high American literature studies. Once discovered by southern parents, the book’s solid place became shaky indeed. Sporadic lawsuits arose. In most cases the complaint against the book was by conservatives who disliked the portrayal of whites. Typically, the Hanover County School Board in Virginia first ruled the book “immoral,” then withdrew their criticism and declared the ruckus “was all a mistake” (Newsletter on Intellectual Freedom 1966). By 1968 the National Education Association listed the book among those which drew the most criticism from private groups. Ironically it was rated directly behind Little Black Sambo (Newsletter 1968). And the seventies arrived.

3 Things had changed in the South during the sixties. Two national leaders who had supported integration and had espoused the ideals of racial equality were assassinated in southern regions. When John F. Kennedy was killed in Texas on November 27, 1963, many southerners were shocked. Populist attitudes of racism were declining, and in the aftermath of the tragedy southern politics began to change. Lyndon Johnson gained the presidency: blacks began to seek and win political offices. Black leader Martin Luther King had stressed the importance of racial equality, always using Mahatma Gandhi’s strategy of nonviolent action and civil disobedience. A brilliant orator, King grew up in the South; the leader of the [Southern Christian Leadership Conference], he lived in Atlanta, Georgia. In 1968, while working on a garbage strike in Memphis, King was killed. The death of the 1965 Nobel Peace Prize winner was further embarrassment for white southerners. Whites began to look at public values anew, and gradually southern blacks found experiences in the South more tolerable. In 1971 one Atlanta businessman observed [in Ebony], “The liberation thinking is here. Blacks are more together. With the doors opening wider, this area is the mecca....” Southern arguments against To Kill a Mockingbird subsided. The Newsletter on Intellectual Freedom contained no record of southern court cases during the seventies or eighties. The book had sustained itself during the first period of sharp criticism; it had survived regional protests from the area it depicted.

4 The second onslaught of attack came from new groups of censors, and it came during the late seventies and early eighties. Private sectors in the Midwest and suburban East began to demand the book’s removal from school libraries. Groups, such as the Eden Valley School Committee in Minnesota, claimed that the book was too laden with profanity (Newsletter 1978). In Vernon, New York, Reverend Carl Hadley threatened to establish a private Christian school because public school libraries contained such “filthy, trashy sex novels” as A Separate Peace and To Kill a Mockingbird (Newsletter 1980). And finally, blacks began to censor the book. In Warren, Indiana, three blacks resigned from the township Human Relations Advisory Council when the Warren County school administration refused to remove the book from Warren junior high school classes. They contended that the book "does psychological damage to the positive integration process and represents institutionalized racism" (Newsletter 1982). Thus, censorship of To Kill a Mockingbird swung from the conservative right to the liberal left. Factions representing racists, religious sects, concerned parents, and minority groups vocally demanded the book's removal from public schools. ...

5 The censors' reactions to To Kill a Mockingbird were reactions to issues of race and justice. Their moves to ban the book derive from their own perspectives of the book's theme. Their "reader response" criticism, usually based on one reading of the book, was personal and political. They needed to ban the book because it told them something about American society that they did not want to hear. That is precisely the problem facing any author of realistic fiction. Once the story becomes real, it can become grim. An author will use first-person flashback in a story in order to let the reader lie in another time, another place. Usually the storyteller is returning for a second view of the scene. The teller has experienced the events before and the story is being retold because the scene has left the storyteller uneasy. As the storyteller recalls the past, both the listener and the teller see events in a new light. Both are working through troubled times in search of meaning. In the case of To Kill a Mockingbird the first-person retelling is not pleasant, but the underlying significance is with the narrative. The youthful personalities who are recalled are hopeful. Scout tells us of a time past when white people would lynch or convict a man because of the color of his skin. She also shows us three children who refuse to believe that the system is right, and she leaves us with the thought that most people will be nice if seen for what they are: humans with frailties. When discussing literary criticism, Theo D’Haen suggested [in Text to Reader] that the good literary work should have a life within the world and be “part of the ongoing activities of that world.” To Kill a Mockingbird continues to have life within the world; its ongoing activities in the realm of censorship show that it is a book which deals with regional moralism. The children in the story seem very human; they worry about their own identification, they defy parental rules, and they cry over injustices. They mature in Harper Lee's novel, and they lose their innocence. So does the reader. If the readers are young, they may believe Scout when she says, "nothin's real scary except in books." If the readers are older they will have learned that life is scary, and they will be prepared to meet some of its realities.

Second Read

- Reread the essay to answer these text-dependent questions.
- Write any additional questions you have about the text in your Reader/Writer Notebook.

2. Key Ideas and Details: What is the central claim of the essay?

3. Key Ideas and Details: What were the main reasons white critics felt To Kill a Mockingbird should be banned in schools?
4. Key Ideas and Details: Why is it significant to note that there was a large population of black audiences who felt the novel should be banned?

5. Key Ideas and Details: How does To Kill a Mockingbird remain “part of the ongoing activities” of our world?

Working from the Text

6. Use the RAFT strategy to compose an argument defending or challenging the use of the novel To Kill a Mockingbird in the ninth-grade curriculum of your high school.

   - Role: Student
   - Audience: Parent, teacher, censor, administrator, school board member
   - Format: Letter, speech, or e-mail
   - Topic: Whether or not the novel To Kill a Mockingbird should be part of the ninth-grade curriculum

   As you write your argument, be sure to do the following:

   - Start with a claim defending or challenging the use of To Kill a Mockingbird in the ninth-grade curriculum.
   - Use textual evidence from your research, your reading of the novel, and/or the Karolides article.
   - Raise at least one counterargument and rebut it.

Check Your Understanding

Using evidence from the article, explain how the experience of reading To Kill a Mockingbird in the 1960s would be different from the experience of reading it now.
“Hey, Boo”

Learning Targets
- Analyze and annotate a literary passage.
- Support inferences with text evidence.
- Write an essay about how literary elements contribute to a theme.

 Impressions of Boo
1. Before reading Chapters 29 and 30, complete the first row of the graphic organizer below, which asks about Scout’s mental picture of Boo Radley from the early chapters of the book.

 Close Reading: Chapters 29–31
2. As you read Chapters 29–31, complete the rest of the graphic organizer. In the Textual Evidence column, first write the inference you are making from the topic of the commentary, and then provide the textual evidence to support that inference.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Commentary</th>
<th>Textual Evidence</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Scout’s mental picture of Boo before Chapter 29</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>The reality of Boo</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Scout’s understanding of Boo after she meets him</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
Working from the Text

3. With a small group, brainstorm a list of the literary elements you have studied in this unit and take turns explaining their meaning so that you can use them in your writing and also for Embedded Assessment 2.

4. Conduct a close reading of the passage in Chapter 31 that begins “I led him to the front porch” and ends with “Just standing on the Radley porch was enough.” Use sticky notes to annotate the text with your interpretation and analysis.

Drafting the Embedded Assessment

Work together with your group to write an essay about how the literary elements in the passage you have just annotated help develop a theme of the novel. If you have computers, try using something like Google docs or a wiki to compose the analysis and your essay together. Be sure to:

- Include an introduction with a hook that connects to a thesis.
- Provide multiple support paragraphs with topic sentences, textual evidence, and commentary.
- End with a conclusion that makes connections between the literal, interpretive, and universal.

Independent Reading Checkpoint

Review your independent reading. What have you learned and observed about the main characters in coming of age novels, biographies, and autobiographies? Review any idea notes you made. How can you use what you have learned as you read additional coming-of-age literature? Which techniques will be most effective if you choose to write a coming-of-age piece?
ASSIGNMENT

Your assignment is to write a passage analysis of a key coming-of-age scene from To Kill a Mockingbird. After annotating the text to analyze Harper Lee’s use of literary elements in your selected passage, write an essay explaining how the literary elements in this passage help develop a theme of the novel.

Planning and Prewriting: Take time to select and annotate a passage.
- Which passage from the novel will you choose to illustrate a significant coming-of-age moment?
- How will you be sure you understand all the literary elements that you have studied in this unit? (See the list you created in Activity 3.22.)
- How can you be sure readers know what passage you have chosen to mark and annotate to analyze literary elements?
- How will you use your annotations to generate a working thesis that shows the significance of the passage to a theme of the book?

Drafting: Determine the structure of your essay and how to incorporate necessary elements.
- How will you organize your essay? What tools will you use to help you organize?
- What is your thesis? Do your topic sentences support your thesis?
- What textual evidence do you need to support your thesis and topic sentences?
- What elements do you need to include in your introduction and conclusion?

Evaluating and Revising: Create opportunities to review and gain feedback for revisions.
- How will you ask for feedback on your draft? Whom will you ask?
- How will you revise your draft for seamless integration of quotations using the TLQC method (transition, lead in, quote, and commentary)?

Editing for Publication: Confirm that the final draft is ready for publication.
- How will you proofread and edit your draft to demonstrate command of the conventions of standard English (capitalization, punctuation, spelling, grammar, and usage)?
- How will you use the Scoring Guide to be sure you have met all of the criteria for this assignment?

Reflection

After completing this Embedded Assessment, think about how you went about accomplishing this task, and respond to the following question: What have you learned about the significance of individual passages to a novel as a whole?
SCORING GUIDE

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Scoring Criteria</th>
<th>Exemplary</th>
<th>Proficient</th>
<th>Emerging</th>
<th>Incomplete</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Ideas</td>
<td>The essay • includes a well-chosen passage that reveals the complex relationship between the literary elements and the major ideas and concepts of the entire work • provides supporting details to enhance understanding of the writer’s position • relates commentary directly to the thesis.</td>
<td>The essay • reflects a careful choice of passage to show the relationship between a scene and the major ideas and concepts of the novel • provides relevant details to explain the writer’s position • uses appropriate commentary.</td>
<td>The essay • attempts to link a passage to a major theme of the novel • presents supporting details that may be fully developed or provide an understanding of the writer’s position • has commentary that may not relate directly to the thesis or may be a plot summary.</td>
<td>The essay • a passage that does not represent a major theme of the novel • is missing supporting details or presents undeveloped ideas • is missing commentary or includes commentary that does not relate directly to the thesis.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Structure</td>
<td>The essay • has multiple paragraphs and a clear and precise thesis that directs the organization of the body • uses transitions to clarify and connect ideas • provides relevant and insightful commentary; the conclusion follows from the ideas presented.</td>
<td>The essay • has multiple paragraphs and is organized with an introduction, detailed body paragraphs, and a conclusion • uses transitions to establish connections between ideas.</td>
<td>The essay • attempts to organize ideas but key pieces are lacking • may be missing an introduction, detailed body paragraphs, and/or a conclusion • uses few or no transitions to connect ideas.</td>
<td>The essay • does not have a focus with a clear organization of introduction, body paragraphs, and conclusion • does not use transitions to connect paragraphs and/or ideas.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Use of Language</td>
<td>The essay • uses a formal style • seamlessly incorporates literary analysis vocabulary • is mostly error-free, with proper punctuation and capitalization to embed quotations into the text.</td>
<td>The essay • uses diction that is appropriate for an academic topic • incorporates some literary analysis vocabulary • has few errors.</td>
<td>The essay • uses simple language that is not appropriate for an academic topic • includes little literary analysis vocabulary • has errors that interfere with meaning.</td>
<td>The essay • uses slang or informal words that are not appropriate for an academic topic • includes little or no literary analysis vocabulary • has numerous errors that interfere with meaning.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>